Seek Impact Study Of New Area Strip Mall

The Antioch Zoning Board of Appeals voted Feb. 4 to have developers prepare an impact study for the proposed "Town Square" at Rtes. 83 and 173.

The report must be presented to the zoning board within 120 days of that meeting, i.e. by May 4. It should include the development's potential effect on such matters as traffic and on the downtown area, as well as the fiscal effect on the village, according to Don Davis, the new Antioch Community development director.

The request for a zoning change for a project on Anita St. was passed on to the village board with a recommendation for approval. It calls for a multi-family development of several apartment buildings next to Rinear Rd. and Garys Dr.

Petitioners for a rezoning on North Ave. failed to show up for their scheduled public hearing Feb. 4. Davis said the petitioner can get another hearing, but would have to pay again for publication fees to announce the new date.

The zoning board also recommended that the village board approve a wine and beer license for The Vault restaurant. This would be for limited hours and service could only be with a meal.

Spronk Has Perfect Math Contest Score

For the second Illinois Math League contest in a row, a perfect score of six was achieved by a student at Antioch High School. Cindy Spronk followed Rick Ruck's lead from the test in January with six correct answers to questions like: Find the smallest positive integer n for which all the digits in the product $9n$ are ones.

Spronk's score of six on the fourth test was closely followed with fives by Mike Malson, Dave Westergaard, Keith Cartwright, John Fedor and Jerry Ruscko.

The team score consisting of the top five scorers was 26. All together 25 students took the 30-minute test.

Through three tests, Antioch is tied for sixth place in the county with Stevenson High School, with a score of 69 out of a possible 90.

Seek Bids For Sewer Plant Improvement

The Antioch Village Board voted to advertise for bids for improvement of the sanitary plant. The bids will be opened on March 5, according to Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz, and published in a legal notice.

At its meeting on Feb. 2, the board also forwarded three proposed ordinances for consideration at the zoning board meeting on Feb. 4. These included the proposed development at Rtes. 83 and 173, one on Anita St., and a third on North Ave. (See separate story.)

The trustees approved paying $482 dues for the Antioch membership in the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission. They also authorized purchase of several pieces of equipment, including a booking camera for the police department and a light saw for the maintenance department.

February was endorsed as American History Month. The board issued a proclamation for the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Girl Scouts were authorized to sell cookies in town during their annual drive. Poppy sales by the American Legion also were approved for a 24-hour period on May 22-23.

Antioch Police Catch Man Passing Bad Rx

Antioch Police arrested a man for trying to get a phony prescription filled at the local Osco drug store on Thursday, Jan. 29.

Charges of attempted unlawful acquisition of a controlled substance were entered against Brian Mosansky, Ingleside. The arrest was made by Officers James Blackwood and George Broecker.

Mosansky is scheduled to appear in Lake County Circuit Court in Waukegan.

Police also are seeking to question a former employee of the doctor whose prescription forms were used.

In a separate incident, police arrested a man on charges of public indecency at a shopping center parking lot. Community Service Officer David Walsh was called to the scene following complaints from citizens. The suspect will face these charges at bench court in Fox Lake.

A large number of bad checks are still appearing, according to Lt. Tom Fisher. About 10 to 20 of these cases are referred each week to the police department, which deserves credit for successfully collecting or prosecuting more than 95 percent of these cases.

Lt. Fisher says about 20 to 30 such cases remain open at a time for the department to help. If there is no success, an arrest warrant can be issued at the request of the business people on a charge of deceptive practices.

Lt. Fisher said the business people first make several attempts to reach the bad check writers and send a letter to give them a chance to straighten out the problem, before turning it over to the police for collection. Then the police also try to contact the person and write them before issuing a warrant.

Statements Of Economic Interest Due By May 1

"Once again it is time to file the Statement of Economic Interest for those persons required to comply with the Illinois Governmental Ethics Act," announced Lake County Clerk Linda Hess.

This act requires certain individuals who are employed by government agencies to disclose their economic interests to prevent any potential conflicts of interest. This includes both elected and appointed officials serving in some capacity for a unit of government.

Hess said forms have gone out to all units of government in the county requesting the names of Lake County residents required to file. "We already have gotten some lists back, and we have begun sending letters notifying residents of their responsibility to comply with the Illinois Governmental Ethics Act," she said.

Persons required to file with the County Clerk's office must do so by May 1, or they will be subject to late fees and/or penalties. A $15 late filing fee will be charged to those persons filing after May 1, and those who have not filed by May 15, may be subject to penalties for each day they have not filed.

"We really don't want to charge late fees to people who must file, considering their communities in voluntary position," said Hess, "but it's the law. So we're urging filers to get their forms in as soon as they receive them," she added.

Residents who think they might be required to file should call the county clerk's office at (312) 360-6666 if they do not receive a notice in the next couple of weeks. Over 4,000 persons in Lake County are expected to file.

Axton Goes To Capitol For Banking Program

Ted C. Axton, president of the First National Bank of Antioch, was among a group of nearly 50 Illinois bankers who participated in the Illinois Bankers Assn.'s 1987 Federal Contact Program from Feb. 1-4 in Washington, D.C. Axton's wife, Vickie, also participated in the annual event.

During the three-day program, the group discussed banking issues with U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon (D-Ill.), Paul Simon (D-Ill.) and Sen. William Proxmire (R-Wis.), chairman of the senate banking committee.

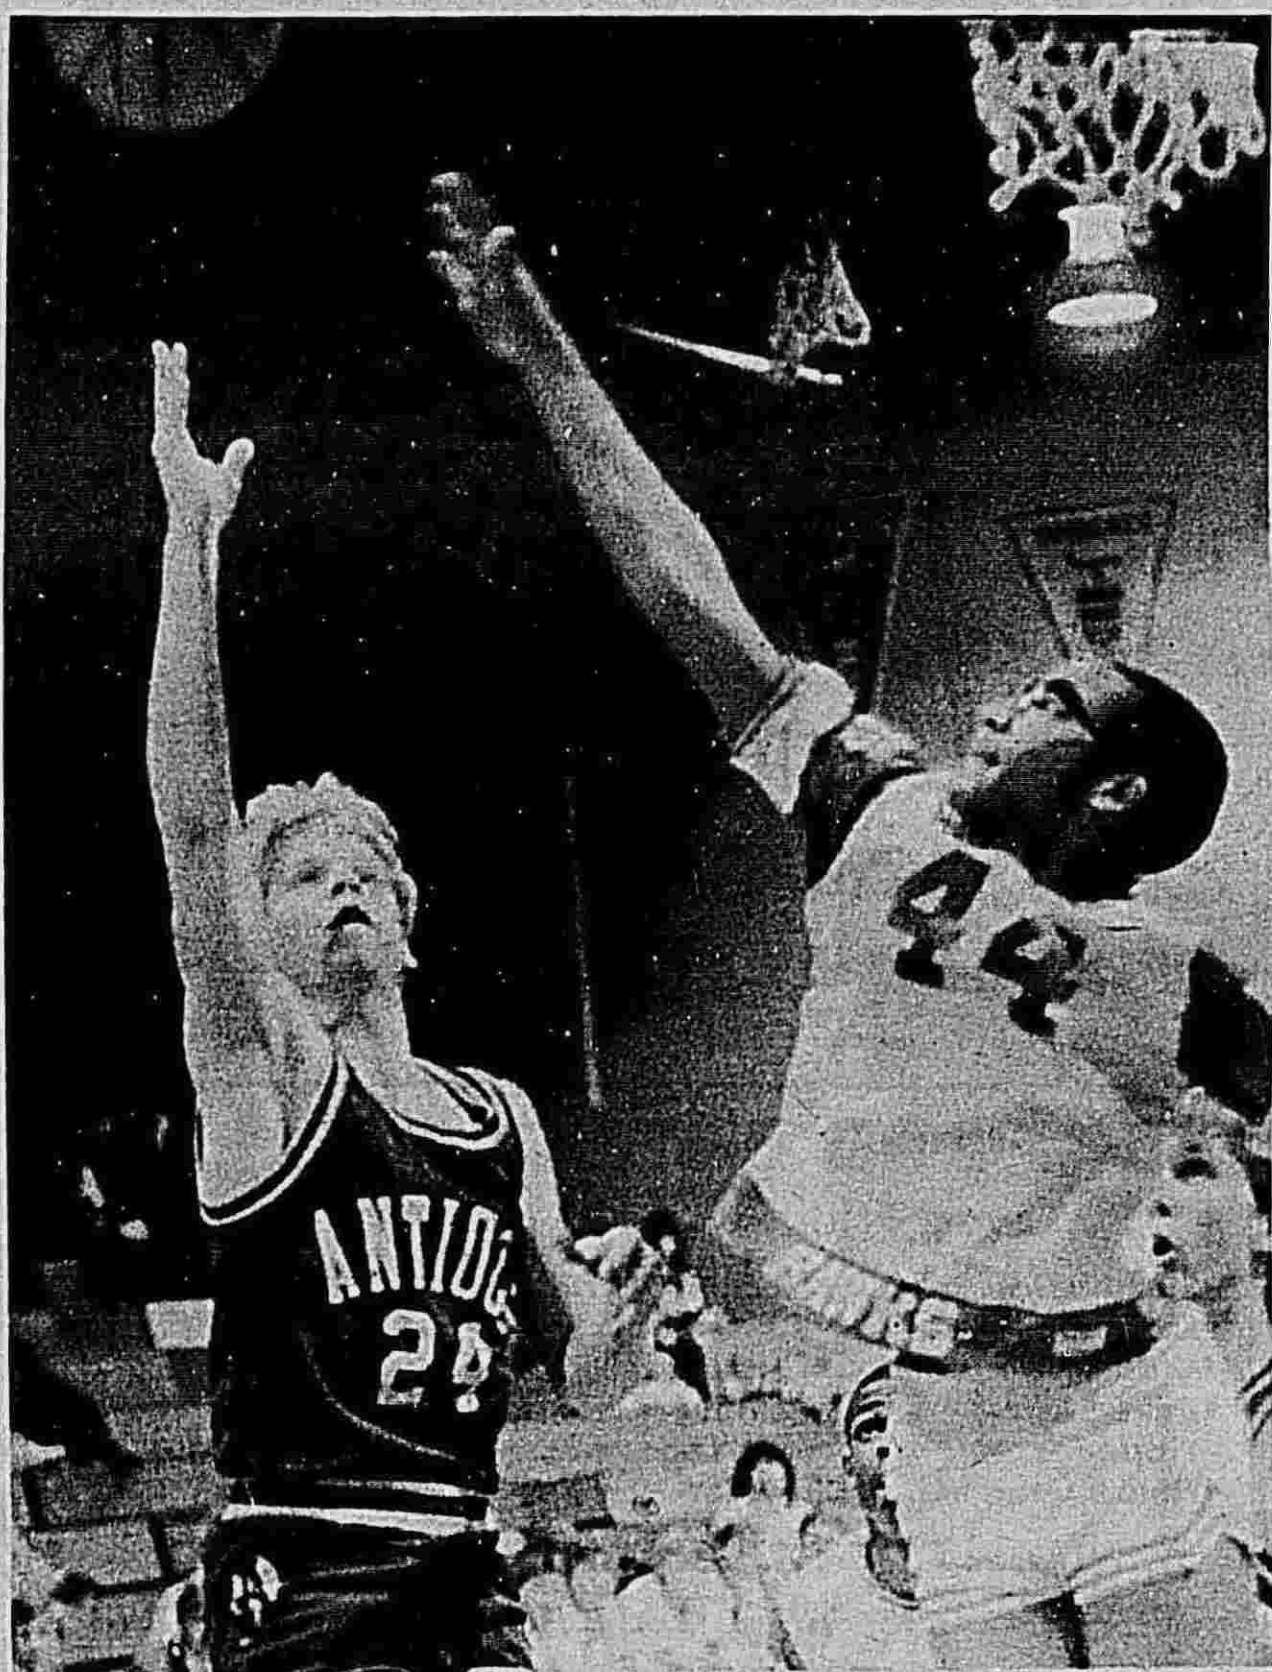

Axton and a small group of bankers also met with U.S. Rep. Phil Crane (R-12th), U.S. Rep. John Porter (R-10th) and Gus Savage, and exchanged views on a number of bills Congress will consider this year.

The Axtons participated in briefings and discussions with Wayne D. Angell, a member of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, Robert L. Clark, U.S. Comptroller of the Currency, L. William Seidman, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., and Vance L. Clark, administrator of the Farmers Home Administration.

They also met with representatives from the Department of the Treasury, Federal Home Loan Bank Board, American Bankers Assn. and the Independent Bankers Assn. of America.

Although the bankers discussed a number of legislative and regulatory issues during their Washington visit, they focused on three major topics: the banking industry's efforts to obtain congressional authority to offer the broadest possible range of products and services to customers; the need for legislation so that many kinds of new "non-bank" banks will be subject to the same regulations as all other banking organizations; and the need to recapitalize the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Co. (FSLIC) insurance fund, without merging the FSLIC with the financing sound which insures bank deposits FDIC.

Axton has long been active in the Illinois Bankers Assn., a full-service and progressive trade association representing nearly 90 percent of the banks in Illinois.

Letter To The Editor:

Mail Shops Would Bring Shoppers

Dear Editor:

I moved from Chicago to Antioch 22 years ago. Being a life long city girl for 25 years, adjustments had to be made.

Back in 1965, one of my main concerns was the shortage of what I considered a variety of shopping. I especially missed the bargain stores such as K-Mart, Zayre, Turnstyle, etc.

However, there were many other things that I did like about Antioch and I made the adjustment. Frankly I figured that sooner or later, stores of this nature would make their way to Antioch.

Now, 22 years later, I've noticed that although Antioch has many fine, unique shops, bargains in the town proper are hard to come by. As a mother of 6, I have found it necessary to take my business elsewhere. I shop the discount stores and the larger malls that offer really great Bargain racks.

I think it's time the founders of Antioch open their eyes. I am by far not the only person in Antioch who shops elsewhere for bargains. In fact I've often wondered what keeps some of the high-priced shops going in downtown Antioch.

Now about the issue of malls and/or other businesses going up out of the town proper. I personally feel that this would not hurt the existing shops in town. Those people who have been supporting downtown Antioch will continue doing so. Those of us who go elsewhere for more reasonable prices, may, if given an opportunity and more variety and better prices, bring our business back to Antioch.

Even businesses setting up shop out of the town proper do benefit the town with added tax dollars.

Antioch needs to appeal to all pocket books not just the doctors, lawyers, and business owners. There are people of all income brackets living in and near the town itself, yet presently Antioch offers only high priced specialty shops. Antioch, do yourself a favor, let Walgreens and other mall shops locate here.

The Murder Room

The Feb. 6 production of "The Murder Room" at Andres Steak and Seafood House on Rt. 12 in Richmond, Illinois was a British drawingroom comedy with a large portion of Agatha Christie thrown in for good measure. This offering of comedy/mystery will keep you laughing and in suspense for the entire night.

Jack Sharkey's work presented by Fantasia Productions of Crystal Lake had this reviewer recalling the delightful moment to moment mix-ups from such British comedy classics as Oscar Wilde's "The Importance Of Being Earnest" as well as one or two favorite turns of plot from the mysteries of Agatha Christie. There are enough secret stairways and hidden rooms to keep any mysteryphile happy. I lost count of the puns and other literary devices that keep the laughs moving at well over 55 miles per hour. But don't worry, at no point will this play leave you behind. It is a mystery that is no mystery where the fun is concerned.

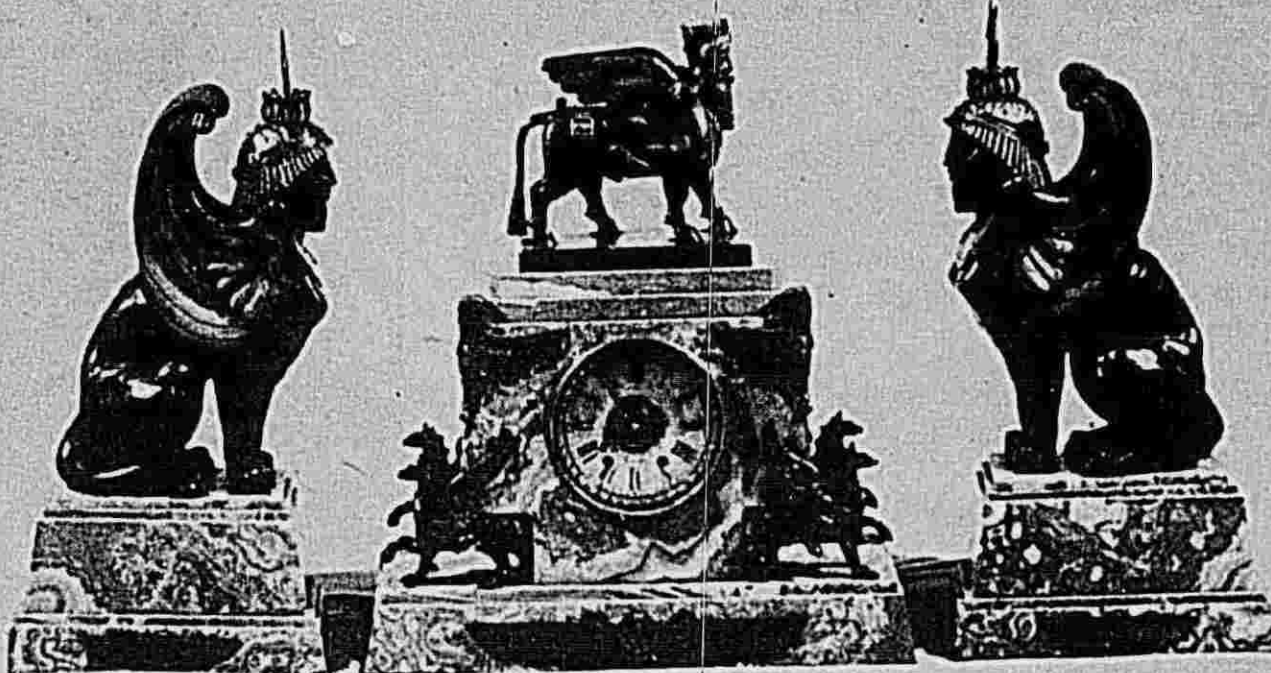

Student News

Air National Guard Airman Allen W. Zon, son of Carter and Sylvia Zon of Wauconda, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. During the six-week training, Zon studied Air Force mission, organization and customs, and received special training in human relations. He is a 1986 graduate of Wauconda High School.

One problem in reviewing a mystery is that it is too tempting to mention so many things that, if mentioned, would give the show away. I won't do that, but I will mention the success of the cast that go to create this night of fun and mystery.

The mandatory wife (murderer?) in question is played with all the heat that dinner theatre will allow, by Crystal Lake's Virginia Zymonas. Her less than convinced victim husband is convincingly portrayed by Ron Ferraro, also of Crystal Lake. Don Swanson of Chicago brings the equally mandatory police inspector to life. Added to this are Georgiana Power of Carpentersville as the "somewhat absent" daughter and Sam Jones of Rockford as her rich American Beau. The essential Cockney maid is portrayed down to the scathing by Bethany Evans of Algonquin.

This delightful, thrill-filled night of entertainment is playing at Andres Steak and Seafood House in Richmond. Reservations are required.

Kirk Players Star In Carmel's 'Street Scenes'

The Kirk Players, Mundein's Community Stock Co., will again be part of the entertainment "happening" called "Street Scenes Variations." For the eighth consecutive year, the Players will present one of the major shows for this annual fundraiser, Feb. 13 and 14.

This year for the first time, the Kirk Players show will not be in the gym. It will be in Room 400, which will be turned into the interior of a "no-frills" airliner by Kirk newcomer Greg Fischesser and his crew. In keeping with this year's theme, "Street Scenes Takes You On a Vacation," the Kirk show is titled "Airport '87-Part III, or What Goes Up Must Come Down!"

Show audiences will be seated as passengers and welcomed aboard Continental American Trans Texas Air Lines (CATTAL) by two gorgeous and goofy stewardesses (Paula Willems of Wildwood and Jerilyn Kjelberg of Vernon Hills). It is Flight 13 for Washington and CATTAL firmly believes that the number of takeoffs should always equal the number of landings.

Street Scenes Variations will be at Carmel High School on Feb. 13 and 14. Doors will open at 6:45 p.m. and the shows will start at 7:30 p.m. Tickets, which include admission to all shows, lounges and the midway are $10. The cabaret-like atmosphere includes alcoholic beverages and only people 21 or older will be admitted.

The David Adler Cultural Center and the North Suburban Clinic will co-sponsor the Chicago Children's Choir in concert on Sunday, Feb. 15 at 2 p.m. at the Libertyville High School Studio Theater, 708 W. Park Ave., Libertyville.

Now in its 31st year, the Chicago Children's Choir is an internationally known group of young singers from a wide variety of backgrounds and Chicago neighborhoods. The choir has performed with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and the Joffrey Ballet, and in 1984 received the Beatrice Award for Excellence.

This children's concert will feature songs from around the world, many in the original languages, and will offer plenty of opportunity for participation.

Admission is $3 for adults, $2.50 for members and $2 for children.

The David Adler Cultural Center, 1700 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville, is a non-profit organization. For more information, call (312) 367-0707.

Critic's Choice In... Lakeland

On 'Angel Street'

BY BILL DOTSON

Once in awhile a movie or a play comes along that is so good and so memorable that a part of its dialogue or its title takes on a special meaning and becomes a part of mainstream culture.

Just as 'Catch-22', for example, signifies a ridiculous, inescapable problem, the word 'gaslight' has become a definitive term meaning to drive someone crazy.

This, of course, is due to the movie of that name derived from the play "Angel Street", which began its current run Friday, Feb. 6, at the PM&L Theatre, 877. Main St., Antioch.

It's easy to see why this story achieved such memorable distinction. Written by Patrick Hamilton, it is a Victorian thriller that has style, class and wit. The story of a man who is methodically trying to drive his very vulnerable wife insane for mysterious reasons, the play is very intriguing.

Although some people may be unable to avoid measuring the play against the movie version which starred Ingrid Bergman and Charles Boyer, this reviewer had the advantage of not having seen that classic film. As the plot unfolded, it did so for the first time for me, giving it a certain freshness as I was drawn into the twists of the story.

However, this is not to take anything away from the PM&L production. The members of the cast certainly prove themselves up to the challenge of doing justice to this play. I suspect that even if I had seen the movie, I would still have found much to admire in this version.

Much of the credit for this goes to the cast. Under Mickey Mandel's direction, they are all so remarkable that even if I had already known the whole story, they still would have made it worth watching. There seems to be none of the hammy overacting in this group that can sometimes be found in small community theatre.

Colleen Jordan, as the tormented Mrs. Manningham, is quite convincing, especially in a climactic, emotional scene near the end, for which she received well-deserved applause. Lou Jones plays the cold, calculating 'Mr. Manningham' skillfully. Dolores Finley is very good as Elizabeth, the maid, devoted to helping her mistress. Jamie Seputis shines as the amoral maid Nancy, especially in a seduction scene involving her and "the Mister." Tom Hausman is marvelous in the play's most appealing role, as Detective Rough, a charming character and Mrs. Manningham's savior.

Credit must also go to the lighting crew, led by Jim Nelson, since light plays an important part in the story.

All those involved combine to make "Angel Street" a definite class act. For an evening of fine entertainment, PM&L's offering for the next few weekends is recommended.

Chorus To Honor Benny

Prior to their appearance at New York's Lincoln Center, the Waukegan Chamber Singers will sing at the gala reception with Joan Benny for Benny Boosters.

Benny Boosters have contributed to establish a free annual Jack Benny Commemorative Concert by the Benny Center for the Arts, named after Waukegan's favorite son.

At the "39 Again" birthday reception for Joan Benny and the Benny Boosters at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 14 (Valentine's Day and Benny's actual birthday), youthful musicians studying at the Benny Center will also perform. The Benny String Ensemble will present a special arrangement of the Kreutzer Etude so frequently played by Jack Benny.

There is still time to become a Benny Booster and attend the gala reception. Individual donation is $39 to be a Benny Booster, or $78 (39 again) to prove oneself as a Benny Angel.

Business patrons are asked to donate $150, and corporate sponsors should consider a donation of $500 or more. Everyone who becomes a Benny Booster will have the satisfaction of supporting an essential part of Waukegan's cultural life and help establish the annual Benny Commemorative Concert.

For a Jack Benny "39 Again Birthday" button which entitles one to admission to the Benny Booster reception, send a check payable to Jack Benny Tribute, c/o Bank of Waukegan, 1601 N. Lewis Ave., Waukegan, 60085. Call (312) 662-2417 for more information.

Cast 'Fools' Players

The Waukegan Community Players have cast their new play "Fools".

Director Trudy Driver chose a mother/daughter acting duo to portray the mother/daughter comedienne in the show. Karen Eaves will play the mother and Jennifer Eaves is cast as Sophia, her daughter.

"Fools is a farce, comedy by Neil Simon, somewhat different from the usual Simon fare. This play centers on a town occupied by people under a curse, the curse of stupidity.

Can the hero, Leon (a schoolteacher) lift the curse and rescue the townsfolk from their ignorance, marry the beautiful, young heroine and find true happiness? Or will he too fall under the curse?

Join Waukegan Community Players March 6, 7 and 8 and March 13 and 14 at the Melba Wixom Auditorium, East Campus for the answers and plenty of chances to laugh.

Symphony To Fete 10th Anniversary

Chamber singers, a small ensemble selected from the chorus by audition, will perform madrigals and chamber choral works on all concerts.

All concerts are held at the historic Genesee Theatre in downtown Waukegan, except for the Pops Concert which is held in the Center Court of Lakehurst Mall.

In addition to subscription season performances, the chorus has appeared annually on the Waukegan Rotary Club's Regional Convention held at the Abbey on Lake Geneva.

Last December, the chorus sang with the Lake Forest Symphony in Lake Forest. Chamber singers provided additional music during that program.

In April, Waukegan Symphony Chorus will be the largest of five choruses invited to sing a performance of Mozart's "Mass in C Minor" in Avery Fisher Hall at Lincoln Center, New York City.

The Waukegan Symphony Chorus is sponsored by the Waukegan Park Dist.'s Jack Benny Center for the Arts, and is a member of the Waukegan Area Arts Council and an associate member of the Assn. for Professional Vocal Ensembles.

April will mark the 10th anniversary of the founding of the Waukegan Symphony Chorus. Originating as a community chorus, it has maintained that status, giving non-professional singers the opportunity to perform choral masterworks.

Coming from many communities within and beyond Lake County, members of this ensemble volunteer their time and talent for the rehearsal and performance of some of the finest selections from classical and contemporary literature.

Although associated with a great diversity of daily occupations, the more than 100 singers have joined WSC to pursue a common interest in good music and good singing.

Singer Set For Benefit

Folk singer, songwriter, Jim Post will perform at the seventh annual benefit concert for Special Olympics at the Woodstock Opera House on Feb. 14, at 8:15 p.m.

Post, current host for National Public Radio's "The Flea Market", has spanned a career of over 25 years, including more than 15 albums to his credit and thousands of performances coast to coast. Post allows his pleasing tenor voice to imbue his material with vitality and emotion. His show impacts on many levels.

Bushy headed and twinkley-eyed, he is an entertainer so sure of his musical talents that he can afford to be artistically expansive. His act is liberally peppered with playful theatrics (a dance here, a pose there) and with humorous stories. The entire package is stimulating in its free-wheeling wit and its thoughtfully carefree execution.

Also appearing will be the Friedlander and Hall Swing Band. Jeff Friedlander and Ed Hall are so called "dyed in the wool" jazz/swing junkies who may also sneak in a contemporary, folk, or country tune into their set. Their band features bassist Doug Lofstrom and horn player Michael Leven who are two of Chicago's finest musicians.

Opening the show will be vocalist Tricia Alexander whose fine blues harp, guitar playing, and vocal/songwriting talents have given her widespread acclaim around the mid-west.

All proceeds from this concert are donated to the Northern Illinois Special Recreation Association to benefit over 200 McHenry County residents who participate in Special Olympics.

Tickets for this concert are priced at $9 and $7 and are on sale at the Woodstock Opera House box office. For tickets or more information, call (815) 338-5300.

Valentines Performance

The Chicago Repertory Dance Ensemble will perform a dance concert including three premieres by resident choreographers and the revival of the popular "Big Shoulders," at 8 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 14, at Centre East, 7701-A Lincoln Ave., Skokie. Tickets for the performance are $12 and $14 and can be reserved by calling (312) 673-6300; benefit tickets for the performance and the Valentines Day party immediately following are $35.

Travel To Fest

The A Capella Choirs of 10 Lake County high schools will travel to Fenton High School in Bensenville on Feb. 23 to participate in the North Suburban Choral Festival.

High schools in the North Suburban Conference are Libertyville, Zion-Benton, Warren, North Chicago, Stevenson, Niles North, Fenton, Mundelein, Lake Forest and Antioch.

A combined choir of approximately 400 voices will rehearse all day in preparation for a concert at 7:30 p.m. that evening. The public is invited.

Jim Parks, conductor of Western Illinois University's choir, will be the guest conductor.

Slate Recreation Programs

Registration for the winter/spring programs at the Lindenhurst Recreation Dept. will be held Feb. 9 through 14.

Some of the classes and programs offered are fitness, Fun for Tots, Tae Kwon Do, adult tennis league, drama, modeling and fashion, and more.

Anyone needing more information may call Suzi Schmidt at (312) 395-6011.

French Cards

Although the original playing cards came from 10th Century China, the earliest to bear the four suits of the modern pack reputedly date from France in 1440 A.D.

Rehearse 'Tea'

'Tea and Sympathy' will be presented by the Village Theater Group at Cutting Hall in Palatine on weekends of Feb. 20 and 27. Rehearsing show are, from left, Sara Delcourt, Hank deGrah, Grayslake, Phil Gerace and in front, Mark McFadden.

Liberace, Star Human Being

Lindenhurst Model Will Miss Pal, Liberace

by GLORIA DAVIS

Thousands of fans will miss the showmanship of Liberace who died last week. But for one Lindenhurst resident, Stephanie Daniels, the death of the flamboyant piano virtuoso is a personal loss. She had worked with him in Las Vegas and he was a personal friend.

Daniels is a professional model and a public promotions person who travels all over the United States, Canada and Hawaii promoting products and doing industrial shows and demonstrations. She is well-known in her hometown area for her appearances with Siko, the robot from "Rocky IV." She has also worked on campaigns for Dupont and Lincoln-Mercury.

"Lee and I have kept in touch ever since we did a show in Las Vegas in 1983," said Daniels.

"He was a special person and tried very hard to keep his private life private and that's the way I think it should be," she said.

"No matter how stressful things became when we were working on the show in Vegas, he never lost his cool," Daniels said. "I used to say he was a verbal valium because his relaxed ways were contagious."

"When my folks came out to see the show (a takeoff on Duke Ellington's "Sophisticated Lady," he kept talking about how great he thought I was in the dance scene and not about himself, even though he was the star," Daniels said.

"He was a mega-star, yet he made everyone around him feel like the real stars," she added, relating that although he was always displaying his jewels, his elegant mansion and his many other costly possessions, "he seemed to be sharing it with you and not showing off."

"When I met him for dinner at Caesar's Palace in September, I knew something was wrong with him. The sparkle in his eyes had diminished and there was a look of loss about him," said the model.

"He was an unselfish and kind man, I'll miss him," she finished.

Model-T Fashion Show Part Of Benny Tribute

Benny's Maxwell will not be at Jack's "39 Again" birthday celebration in Waukegan, Feb. 13-15.

However, according to Benny Tribute coordinator, Lynn Breger, the public will be treated to a "Model T" Vintage Fashion Show and Tea Party.

The Model-T will be held on Saturday, Feb. 14 at 3:30 p.m. at the YWCA, 445 N. Genesee St., Waukegan. The show features 30's, 40's and 50's fashions and accessories from Horsefeathers Vintage Boutique, 129 N. Genesee St.

The 12 men, women and children models have been professionally coached by Dee Ryan, Discovery class instructor at Sears-Hawthorn Center.

The show moderator, Sally Lu Peterson, has prepared a nostalgic journey through the styles, stories and songs of the broadcasting years of "The Jack Benny Show."

Viewers will thrill to the luscious peach ball gown, cream satin wedding dress, elegant military and men's evening attire as well as some real surprises just for Valentine's sweethearts.

To reserve a place aboard this journey down memory lane, send a $6 donation to the Jack Benny Tribute, c/o Bank of Waukegan, 1601 N. Lewis, Waukegan, 60085. Space is limited, so act soon. For more information, call the YWCA at (312) 662-4247.

RV Show At O'Hare Expo

New camping equipment is on display during the 19th Annual Chicagoland RV and Camper Show, which opens Friday, Feb. 13 at O'Hare Expo Center in Rosemont. Exhibitors can answer questions about the latest in equipment and accessories. A $5 ticket admits attendees to 175,000 feet of display floor space. Children under 13 are $2. This is Chicagoland's largest display singularly devoted to RV and camping.

1986 saw a drastic increase in people who choose camping, 8,000 public, and as many privately owned campgrounds, are located in or near virtually every popular vacation spot in the U.S. As an example, the National Park Service, which operates campgrounds at 105 locations, reports an 11 percent visitor increase. This, however, has been absorbed by private campgrounds near the destinations. Some of the lesser known parks offer scenic and cultural resources comparable to the more famous, and are far less crowded.

Life-Saving Toast

Tom Hausman, left, who plays detective in PM&L's 'Angel Street', toasts Coleen Jordan whose husband is trying to drive her crazy. Show plays in Antioch for next two week-ends.

Caught In 'Deathtrap'

The Pullman Players' production of "Deathtrap" will be a first in several areas: The first merging of talents with the Grand Hotel, first venture into the mystery world, and first use of the directing techniques of Terence Domschke.

Domschke comes to the Pullman Players with a glowing list of credits. He studied abroad at the Shakespeare Institute of the University of Birmingham, Stratford-On-Avon, England, and Ludwig Maximilian's University in Munich, Germany, and received his bachelor of arts at Principia College and his master of arts from Indiana University.

Other educational studies include Illinois State University, College of DuPage, University of Minnesota, Northeastern Illinois University and State University of New York, Albany.

He has worked professionally with a Shakespearean Repertory Group, directing "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "The Tempest," and has directed countless shows for Elgin Community College where he teaches theatre.

Among his directing credits for the college and the community are "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "Company," "Antigone," "No, No Nanette," "Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds," "A Little Night Music," and a list that goes on and on.

When not teaching, directing or performing, Domschke can be found working on his lovely Victorian home in Dundee, which is in the throes of renovation. Oh, yes, and he just might be found hanging around the set of "Deathtrap."

"Deathtrap" opens Friday, Feb. 13 and runs Fridays and Saturdays through March with two brunch matinees in March. Call (312) 526-5582 for reservations.

Membership Night

The Wauconda Island Lake Jaycees will be holding a membership night at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 12 at the American Legion Hall, Wauconda. There will be pizza and beverages offered and a door prize.

Shark Connection

AT&T ran into an unexpected problem with its first deep sea fiber-optic telephone cable—shark bites. According to National Wildlife magazine, the company laid the first 72 miles of test cable in the Canary Islands in September of 1985. When the cable was hoisted six months later, it had shark teeth embedded in it. Company officials believe that the sharks were attracted by movement of the cable or by the electric current that helps amplify signals.

Present 'Body Works'

Urban Gateways: The Center for Arts in Education in Chicago will present Akasha and Co. in "Body Works," a creative science lesson through dance, at Wauconda School, 225 Osage.

The group consists of four dancers and begins the lesson by simulating breathing and the heartbeat by use of movement. Next, the skeletal structure is shown. The way muscles control and release energy is also explored.

The audience learns through participation. Comic routines as well as dramatic dances are performed.

Urban Gateways, now celebrating its 25th anniversary, reaches some 750,000 students, teachers and parents in 750 schools throughout the Chicago metropolitan area.

The arts agency, hailed as a role model for the nation by the National Endowment for the Arts, brings the arts to students with programs in the schools, and the students to the arts with downtown cultural events.

Located at 343 S. Dearborn in Chicago, the agency is headed by Ronnie Hartfield.

S.T.A.R. Hospice Comforts The Terminally Ill

"A place for shelter for travelers on difficult journeys." Such is the definition of a medieval word from which "Hospice" is derived. The S.T.A.R. Hospice unit at Saint Therese Medical Center (STMC) in Waukegan exists for the same purpose. "The patients we serve are travelers through the latter part of their lives. They have life-threatening illnesses which affect not only themselves, but their circle of family and friends," said Carole Weber, Hospice coordinator at Saint Therese.

Saint Therese's S.T.A.R. Hospice unit, which serves all those whose lives are touched by a terminal illness, is keeping pace with today's changing healthcare world by expanding to meet society's needs. The Saint Therese unit is the most complete one of its kind in the Lake County area.

Although Hospice provides care for patients with a terminal disease, the patients need not be actually dying when they enter the Saint Therese program. Anyone with an incurable condition, such as advanced cancer, liver or kidney failure, is eligible for Hospice.

Aside from its 10 bed inpatient unit, Saint Therese offers home care and bereavement support groups. In fact, the medical center just added to its list of bereavement support groups. A "Teen Grief Support Group" and a "Children Grief Support Group" were added earlier this month.

The Saint Therese Hospice team provides services to the family members and loved ones after the patient's death through calls, visits and monthly meetings with other survivors. "Contacts are routinely made for 18 months by a member of our bereavement program," Webersaid.

The primary emphasis of the S.T.A.R. hospice program is its home care portion. According to Weber, "Hospice is designed not to replace the involvement of families, but to assist them and offer whatever help is needed in the home from our nurses, volunteers and other professionals." Hospice home care nurses and volunteers visit patients regularly, providing skilled nursing care, teaching and emotional support to the patient and his family.

The Saint Therese Hospice program was established in June of 1980 to meet the needs of those who are terminally ill. In keeping with the philosophy and mission of the Missionary Sisters Servants of the Holy Spirit (founders of Saint Therese), Hospice patients are treated regardless of their ability to pay. Its philosophy also maintains that a person should live-in comfort, in peace, and surrounded by the people and things he loves until death.

Admission to the S.T.A.R. Hospice program is based on the following guidelines: the patient and family are aware of the diagnosis and the life-threatening nature of the illness; control of symptoms caused by the illness is the focus of treatment chosen by the patient, instead of aggressive or experimental treatment to cure the disease; and that the patient (or the primary care-giver with whom the patient will live) resides in northern Lake County in the service area of the S.T.A.R. Hospice program. Referrals are accepted from doctors, nurses, family members or other interested persons. If the patient is in need of acute medical or surgical intervention which adds to the quality of life (such as pain control), he may be admitted to the 10-bed Hospice unit.

Not only does the Saint Therese professional staff have extensive experience in pain control and other means of providing comfort for the patient, but volunteers also play a big role in the caring of these terminally ill patients. Hospice volunteers perform numerous tasks and services. "Without their hours of dedicated caring service, we could not offer the special personalized care to our Hospice patients, at home or in the medical center," Webersaid.

Hospice volunteers also participate in fund-raising activities to benefit S.T.A.R. Hospice. The next major fund-raiser for the Hospice program is the annual golf outing on July 1.

Nature Cleaners

Urban pollution fighters are taking to the trees in their battle against dirty air, according to National Wildlife magazine. Recent research has demonstrated that some trees absorb huge amounts of pollutants. Red maple and white birch, for example, seem almost to thrive on sulfur dioxide, while white oaks are especially good at absorbing ozone. Los Angeles city planners say that by the year 2000, the million trees planted for the 1984 Olympics will remove 200 tons of dust and smoke from the air each day.

Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers Ohio Woman Wins National Weight Loss Contest

"Losing 174 Pounds in 10 Months Changed My Life"

Looking at self assured, attractive Martha Fulton-Higgs today, you would never guess that 19 months ago she was 174 pounds heavier, lethargic and severely depressed. Ask her what brought about such a dramatic change and Martha won't hesitate to tell you, "I owe it all to Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers."

Martha's loss of 174 pounds in only 10 months won her first prize, a 3 day Bahamas cruise for two, in the Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers "Slim to Win" national weight loss contest.

Since 1979, Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers have helped thousands change their eating habits and bring their weight problems under control.

The centers guarantee clients will lose at least 3 pounds per week by following the prescribed program. This amazing rate of weight loss is monitored by the center staff of full-time nurses and certified weight loss counselors to ensure the health and safety of each weight loss client.

Anyone who has ever tried to lose weight may doubt the truth of such promising figures. Martha was no exception. "Nobody could have been more skeptical than I," she said. "But, I lost 174 pounds in only 10 months, averaging an incredible 4.3 pounds a week. I could see the changes daily when I stepped on the scale. Motivation comes much easier when the results are so obvious."

By focusing on the weight loss client's physical and mental barriers, the diet and behavior guidance classes together produce amazing results. Martha said, "The Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers' program gave me a safe, medically supervised diet to get my weight off. And they taught me, through behavior guidance classes, how to think like a thin person to keep the weight off."

Offering support and encouragement, staff members work closely with each weight loss client throughout the program. According to Martha, she wouldn't have succeeded without her counselor's help. "The fabulous staff counselors motivated me every day," she said. "When I had a bad day, I called up my counselor and she helped me through. It was an easy program to follow because I wasn't alone. I needed strict supervision and I got the professional help I needed to succeed," she added.

Typical of Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers' clients, Martha's weight loss success has affected other areas of her life. "Since losing weight," Martha said, "I've gotten a better job. I would never have had the nerve to try this when I weighed 309 pounds. I just didn't have the necessary self confidence."

Martha and her husband recently joined a co-ed health club, another thing she would never have done when she was overweight. "Losing weight won't solve all your problems, nothing will. But it sure makes a big difference."

Going from a 309 pound size 48 to a svelte 135 pound size 6 meant quite a few wardrobe changes for Martha. "When I started the program, I told my husband I'd be happy to get down to a size 10. Now I'm a size 6 and I've even got a few 4's in my closet. I don't regret throwing out all my 'fat clothes.'"

To celebrate Martha's success, Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers is offering their medically supervised program for 50% off regular price. Call today for a free consultation.

What Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers Has Done For Me

September 23, 1986

"Dear Friends at Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers:

When I first walked into Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers, I must confess that I had a few doubts. My doubts were soon allayed as I realized that, for the first time, I was going to receive just exactly what I needed to lose my weight—professional help.

Unquestionably, the Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers diet works! The medical supervision, the daily monitoring, the supplements and the behavior guidance add up to success.

Dignity and pride have been restored to my life. Health and happiness are now mine. These things are not gifts. They've been earned through sacrifice, hard work and commitment.

Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers' professionalism, friendship and never-ceasing support carried me through. I used to fantasize about the confident young woman I wanted to be. Now that fantasy is a beautiful reality.

I feel like Cinderella at the ball and as long as I remember that I have friends like those at Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers, the clock will never strike midnight.

I cannot begin to express my gratitude to you all for everything you have done for me. You are all wonderful and I can say, without reservation, that Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers has truly been the answer to my prayers."

Sincerely,

Martha Fulton-Higgs

Soo Line Commuting Urged

Establishment of commuter service on the Soo Line is the most exciting transportation plan to come down the pike in a long time. Feasibility studies now being made public show that there would be sufficient ridership to make the new service workable.

A study by Metra, the commuter rail arm of the Regional Transportation Authority, shows that more than 3,600 persons a day would use the service with boarding points at Antioch, Lake Villa, Grayslake and Mundelein in the Lakeland area and other communities in south Lake County on the Soo right-of-way.

Once looked upon as a "pie-in-the-sky" proposition, potential Soo Line commuter service has become a reality because of four factors:

1. Interest on the part of the Soo's Canadian owners.
2. Integration with the trackage of neighboring railroads at connecting points near Grayslake and Mundelein.

3. Creation of "new" rail commuters as opposed to diversion of present Milwaukee Road and Northwestern riders.

4. Fairly rapid attainment of the breakeven point with eventual solid profitability.

This newspaper long has advocated Soo commuter service as a means of relieving pressure on our highway system besides better utilization of a resource that already has been paid for—the Soo's tracks and roadbed.

One of the intriguing aspects of Soo commuter service would be that the bulk of the investment would be in rolling stock. Federal grants would be used to fund the project targeted to begin in 1990.

Right now officials of the various public transportation agencies operating under the RTA umbrella carefully are sifting public opinion. We see no reason why the public and elected officials should not voice their enthusiastic support for Soo Line commuting. It is an idea whose time has come.

Implement Rate Plan

Despite some battering and bruising by various consumer groups, the negotiated rate increase for Commonwealth Edison with an accompanying five-year rate freeze, sounds good to us. Edison is offering to freeze rates for five years following a one-time increase to customers July 1 of an average 9.6 percent. Political leaders, business organizations, organized labor, minority groups and many community groups are supporting the plan.

The negotiated rate increase is tied closely to bringing on line three new nuclear generating units along with economic development of northern Illinois. The militant consumer groups are ignoring the relationship between stable energy prices and new job creation. The rate dissidents are providing a disservice to the public.

One of the key facets of the negotiated rate increase is the elimination of the obnoxious and unfair summer/winter rate differential designed to promote energy conservation, but in reality a system that has been a dismal failure. The combination rate hike-rate freeze has made sense to every reasonable and rational organization. It deserves to be implemented, and the sooner the better.

Welcome, Mr. Director

If there is a common interest among a divergent group like environmentalists, sportsmen and resort owners in an area like Lakeland, it's a mutual concern over who occupies the director's chair in the Illinois Dept. of Conservation.

The Lakeland area came to know and trust Michael Witte, a sincere and dedicated young director who was considered a friend. Unfortunately, Witte resigned the director's post in December to enter private business. He was replaced by another young man, Mark Frech, whose foremost qualifications are that he is a close and trusted adviser of the governor and that he served as deputy campaign manager for Gov. James Thompson's election to an unprecedented fourth term.

Who the director is and how he operates is of important concern in an area like Lakeland with its many lakes and a major recreation industry.

While the theme throughout the state will be "Getting to Know You," it should be comforting to the Chain O'Lakes and surrounding territory that in his first public interview Frech took pains to note that he sees it important in DOC to make people in the Chicago area aware that they don't have to go to Wisconsin or Michigan. "Many of the things they are going there for are available here in Illinois," the new director observed. That sounds to us like the DOC chief is alert to the economic forces that go into operation of a successful conservation program. Frech explained that his approach will be to form "partnerships" with the various constituencies around the state.

If he continues to follow that trail, the 36-year-old administrator should do well. We wish Director Frech well and look forward to his first visit to the Lakeland area.

Tax Balloon A Rock

Gov. James Thompson normally talks good sense, but the proposal coming out of his office to increase the Illinois gasoline tax by 73 percent and license plate fees by 35 percent was downright silly. Thompson's cabinet floated a trial balloon suggesting the increase of MFT from 13 to 22.5 cents per gallon and hiking the annual license plate fee from $48 to $65.

Not only would the increases be detrimental to the economy and crippling to a lot of people, there is absolutely no need. Illinois is slated to receive approximately $500 million in federal highway aid for fiscal 1988. The state's first half road fund balance at the end of December was $207 million, the highest December month-end balance in Illinois history. Gov. Thompson should have apologized for that rock and either fired or demoted staff members responsible for the idiotic rate increase plan.

Letter To The Editor:

Advancing MEG
Editor:

We take exception to the withdrawal of two Sheriff's Department deputies assigned to the Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG), leaving only one. MEG has proven to be an effective organization in combating drugs.

Drugs are apparent in our cities, villages, schools and homes, eating away the minds of our young people, our most precious resource for our future leadership. We agree with Sheriff Babcox that the drug problem should be dealt with at the local level, to nip it in the bud makes sense. Out of fairness to Sheriff Babcox, we feel that his reasons for withdrawing from this program are valid.

Due to the nature of this operation, in which confidentiality is important, we respect his discretion. Our sources indicate that MEG may have some internal problems and too much freedom of action where individual rights are infringed upon. We conclude that some type of advisory committee would be in order. There is no doubt as to the integrity of the 10 police chiefs that head this organization, and feel that in time these problems will be resolved.

It is mandatory that the county sheriff's department participate in this program. In the event that funding should prove to be a problem, we suggest that Sheriff Babcox address the County Board. Surely they will find the $40,000 to $50,000 needed somewhere in the multi-million dollar county budget to pay for the manpower needed to participate.

Skiing Fun Hurt In McDonald Woods By Snowmobiles

by BILL SCHROEDER

Mark and Erica Bonovitz are two young cross country skiers with a problem that deserves attention. Their favorite skiing spot, McDonald Woods Forest Preserve, is being messed up by snowmobilers. We think they have a legitimate gripe and we're going to lend a hand to correct the situation. See if you don't agree with them:

Dear Editor:

This Christmas I got cross country skis and one of my favorite places is McDonald Woods. But I won't become a good skier if there are snowmobile tracks covering the ski trail. One of the laws is no motorized vehicles allowed in the forest preserve. Please remind your readers about the law.

A New Skier
Mark Bonovitz, age 8

Dear Editor:

Please, no snowmobiles at McDonald Woods. Me and my family are trying to ski there. I can't learn with snowmobiles messing up the tracks. So please don't snowmobile at McDonald Woods.

Erica Bonovitz, age 7

Well put, Mark and Erica. The youngsters are residents of Lindenhurst.

CAN'T FORGET JACK—One of America's enduring memories is of the radio and television days of Jack Benny, the comedian who got his start in show business as a teenage musician in the dancehall of pre-World War I Lake County. Waukegan, his birthplace, is observing his 39th birthday with a three-day celebration this weekend. Old Benny films will be present and some of his radio programs will be aired. Daughter Joan Benny will attend a reception Saturday night, Feb. 14, at Benny Center in Bowen

Park.

The last big Jack Benny celebration took place more than a quarter of a century ago and the droll comic was the honored guest. We found the famed entertainer to be retiring and surprisingly shy. When Jack wasn't on stage he usually was in the background. At a cocktail party where everyone was whooping it up, Jack spent the evening at a corner table quietly visiting with old friends and graciously acknowledging well-wishers. He was one personality who didn't have to be in the limelight all the time.

DISPOSAL EXPERT—Anyone interested in the mounting solid waste disposal problem would benefit from a few minutes conversation with Alan Josephson, a Mundelein businessman who is making a living disposing of what society discards. He's an expert on paper recycling.

In contrast to the hysteria connected with the current public hearing on expansion of the mid-county landfill on Rte. 83, Josephson quickly describes the complexities of solid waste and energy recovery.

Josephson is an advocate of the "source separation" approach to waste management. Simply put, this means that you and I should sort out household waste into categories like paper, bottles, cans, etc. "When this is done a private businessman like myself can afford to process the material for recycling," Josephson explained. When everything is mixed together in a garbage can, about all that can be done is bury the stuff or burn it. The problem is that society is running out of places to bury refuse, and burning the junk prompts a firestorm of protest from the public.

Get the benefit of the perspective of an expert like Al Josephson, however, and I guarantee you'll come away with some sobering thoughts about waste disposal.

CONVENTION—A group of nice kids is in dire need of some help to stage their annual convention Feb. 27 and 28. They're members of the Leo Clubs of Lake County. Leos are the youth arm of the Lions Club.

The meeting, slated for Marriott's Lincolnshire, will bring together youth from seven clubs to exchange ideas how they work to benefit their home community and prepare themselves for adulthood. Leo Clubs are located at Grayslake, Libertyville, Wheeling, Lake Zurich, Gurnee, Waukegan and Winthrop Harbor.

If you'd like to help, Linda Cook, adviser of the Grayslake chapter, will be happy to provide information. Call her at (312) 223-2110.

Correction

In a column by John Steinke in the issue of Feb. 5, 1987, an incorrect reference was made to Kenneth Harlan as an elected official from Zion. The correct reference should have been Kenneth Henke, a former supervisor of Zion Twp. and past member of the County Board. Kenneth Harlan was a member of the Lake County Board of the same era, representing Shields Twp. and residing in Lake Bluff. Henke now is retired.

Notes & News

weather's never dull!

PM&L's opening performance of "Angel Street" wasn't dull either; it was simply a joy. Mickey Mandel's direction was right on as the tension in this Victorian thriller steadily grew, drawing the audience right along. The professionalism of the entire cast along with an outstanding set really makes this a "Must See" for all Antiochans. Villian Lou Jones was so believable that he was even half-heartedly booed during the first curtain call. Working right up to the last minute to ensure the public's convenience, the crew really enjoyed showing off the results of their labor. The renovations are wonderful.

PM&L performances this weekend will be at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 13 and Saturday, Feb. 14, with a matinee at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 15. For reservations call (312) 395-3055.

Friday the 13th isn't stopping the ladies from the Naomi Circle of the Antioch United Methodist Church; they aren't superstitious. They will be selling copies of their compiled cookbook, "Burnt Offerings," for $5.50 each, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the State Bank of Antioch.

The new pastor of the Antioch United Methodist Church, Darrell English, and his wife Pat are busy settling in at the new parsonage purchased by the church. Pastor and Mrs. English haven't been members of our community very long but already are finishing third. They will go on to the state sectional tournament on Friday, Feb. 13 and Saturday, Feb. 14 at Barrington. Brandon Parkhurst (138 pounds) and Dan Heiselmann (155 pounds) both reached the finals, but each won fourth place and will not advance. Overall, ACHS ranked fifth out of eight for the regional. Good luck, fellows!

Kudos also to both the Antioch Upper Grade School girls and boys eighth grade basketball teams for their great 1987 seasons.

Congratulations and best wishes also are in order for the Boy Scouts of Troop 80, 92 and 192 as they celebrate the 77th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America during anniversary week, Feb. 8 to 14.

Heart To Heart Talk

Hearts and flowers time is almost upon us again, the time when everyone is supposed to profess their true love. If one doesn't have the heart of a poet, there are card counters just filled with missives that will impart any loving message with style.

you love honk!" So she started honking immediately. On the inside you find out that little men in white coats then took her away because she was walking on the street at the time.

How about the two cards that are cutouts of

When I Think About It

Those traditional lacey, satiny billet-doux are still available, and so are some strange heart-shaped missives.

There are cards for everyone, ones that encompass every relationship, including the man who smiles at you on the elevator every morning. They even have ones for dear old Mom.

One meant for that dear old girl is headlined, "To a witty, lovely, wonderful, generous Mom! It continues inside with, "Can I borrow $5 to buy my girlfriend a gift?"

For sheer simplicity there is one emblazoned with one word, HEARTTHROB!, scrawled next to a foil mirror.

For the macho man there is one that commands, "Make my day, be my Valentine or its massacre time again!"

How about, "What do you call a handsome, smooth, intelligent, wealthy guy?" Answer -- "A married man!"

Another card told about seeing a bumper sticker that said, "When you see someone

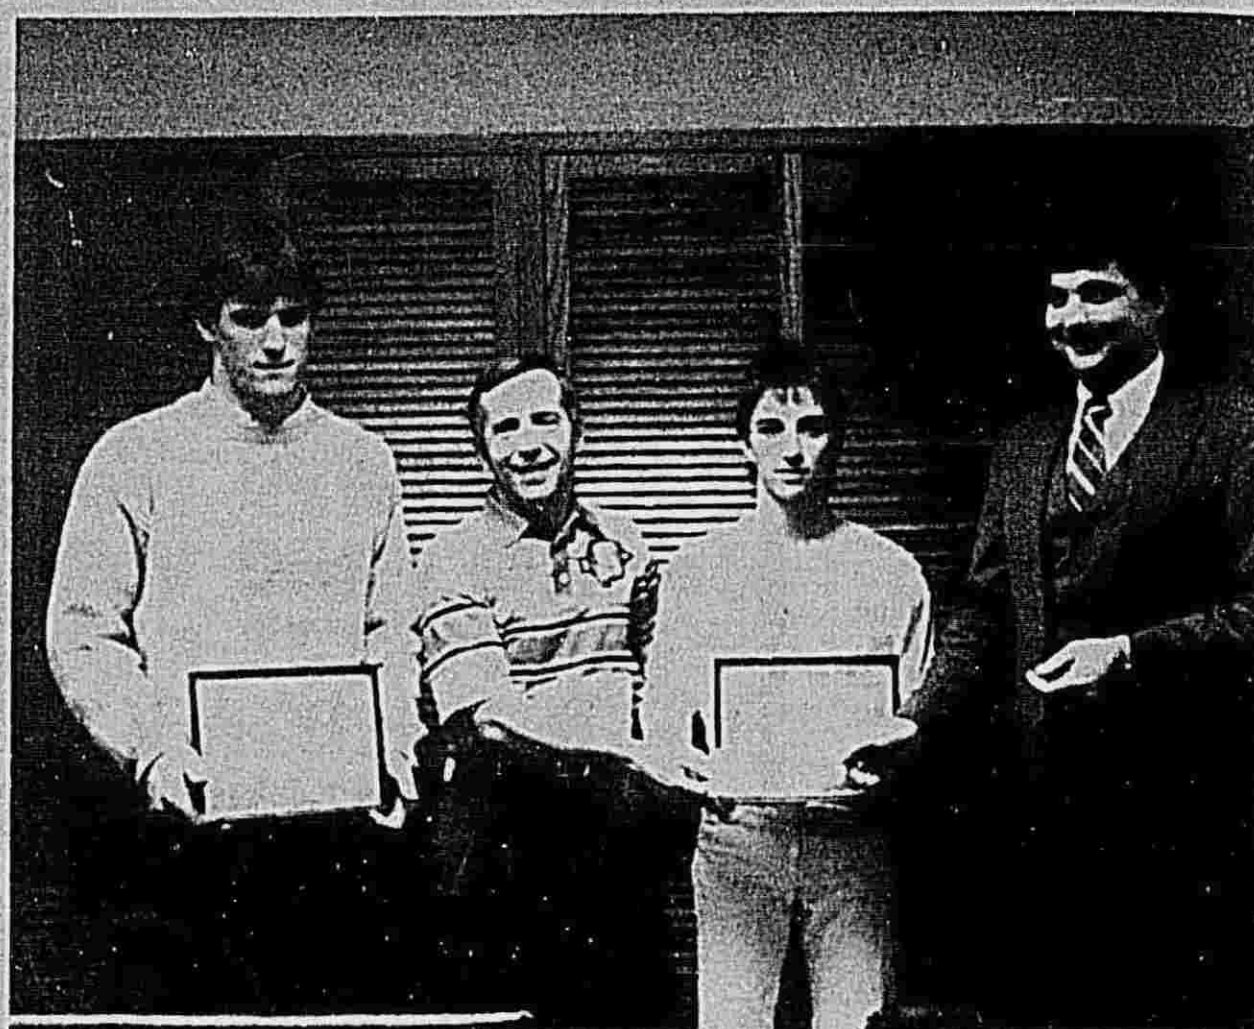

Clark Gable and Vivian Leigh! His says, "So you won't be my Valentine? Well frankly, I don't give a damn!" Hers whimpers, "So you won't be my Valentine? O well, I'll think about that tomorrow."

One loving message gives the receiver the choice of being one of two things in February, a groundhog or the sender's Valentine.

Remember when a Valentine's average cost was 25 cents. Those mentioned above are priced around $2. If you remember the 25-cent cards, then you are as old as Methusaleh, or me!

Just in case you have a little green left after buying your usual love-notes, why not send a friendly Valentine, either to someone in a nursing home, in a hospital, or someone whom you feel will not have an overstuffed mailbox on Feb. 14.

It will be money well spent in the name of LOVE, love of the human race. Remember, "A heart that gives, gathers."

Co-Athletes Of Week

Singles Deal With Eternal Problem Of Meeting

by MARK BENNO

St. Valentine's Day has rolled around again, leading America to once again focus its attention on that struggling, but definitely not silent, minority: singles.

Many years ago, a couple from this area might have met at a Saturday night dance or social, most likely arranged by a local church. Or perhaps even while enjoying a leisurely day of boating on Fox Lake.

Today, however, a totally new set of guidelines for courtship behavior exists. The old meeting places and courtship methods seem outdated in today's world, leaving the often confused and frustrated single to find love (or whatever is desired) with their own initiative and luck.

"I don't like bars anymore," said one Lake Villa woman, "because everyone knows why everyone else is there. It can get pretty phony."

The popularity of "meat-markets", bars where quick matches are often made, is on the downswing. Several factors seem to be responsible for this decline.

The fear of communicable diseases, most significantly AIDS, has tempered the effects of the sexual revolution of the 1960's. A Grayslake man said, "That kind of life is O.K., until something like AIDS comes along, then it's just not worth it."

Loss in faith in singles bars parallels America's increased health consciousness. One popular ad claims the people one meets at its health club look good both in the dark and the light, a direct attack on the single bar's sometimes false and superficial image.

"There's no doubt about it, it's a great way to meet people," said an instructor at a popular Vernon Hills health club. "I see it happen all the time."

The workplace is also an easy place to meet people, since the dramatic increase in the number of women in the workforce has balanced out what was once male domain. Such relationships, however, are often very tricky, and should be entered with great care.

"I went out with a guy from work once," commented a young Antioch woman, "and everything went fine until he started seeing someone else. Then it made working twice as hard, 'cause I had to see him almost every day."

Situations like this often occur at work, and it is one of the most delicate problems a single has to deal with in searching for a mate.

Aside from health clubs, work, and at bars, where is it possible for members of the opposite sex to get together? There remain a wide variety of places in the Lakeland area, ranging from the sublime to the ridiculous.

Personal ads in the paper, video dating, and computer dating are services open to the single of the 1980's. The new wave, however, and the way people will meet in the future, just may be your local grocery store or shopping center.

Many people laugh, but shopping these days is making more sales than those at the cash register. And astute merchants, aware of the fact that this means money, have gone out of their way to make things easy for the prospective romancers.

Supermarkets in many big cities already have "singles" nights. On these nights, those people shopping are considered fair game for inquiries and approaches of the raised eyebrow nature. Actually, it does seem like a logical way to "shop" for romance.

What do you know about someone you meet at a bar? Mainly, that they like to drink. At a health club? They could be self-centered and vain. Personal ads and computer dating? It can easily be embarrassing and humiliating. But food? That's a common denominator all can relate to.

"You see a lot of cute guys at the store," said the Lake Villa woman, "since everyone's got to eat."

Wherever people meet these days, it's a confusing proposition at best. Disease, money, credit, and conflicting work schedules are all examples of how much dating has changed in the last couple of generations.

"Why don't you go out and meet a nice girl/boy?" is usually the response given by a well-meaning, but uninformed, family member. A Gurnee woman, now married for several years, laments for today's single. "I'm glad I don't have to deal with it anymore," she said, "I wouldn't know where to begin."

And with all of these problems facing the modern single, what is their most likely response? Probably, "bring back the days of arranged marriages!"

There's Love In Them Nuggets

FLASH! Scientists at the National Institute for Romantic Research reported today that they had succeeded in isolating the essence of love in their laboratory. According to an article in the Institute's bulletin, "Kiss and Tell," in its pure form, love is a brown substance that is solid at room temperature, melts in your mouth and has a taste that is soul-satisfyingly sweet.

Said a spokesperson, "I can't talk now. My mouth is full and they need me back in the lab for testing."

Truly, there is nothing in the world like chocolate. Its powers are so great that its originators, the Aztecs, reserved its use only for the royal family. Anyone else caught "in cocoa delictu" faced a singularly unpleasant and fatal reprimand ("Melts in your mouth, off with your head!")

Today, we are somewhat more democratic when it comes to the consumption of chocolate, although we wouldn't recommend trying to sneak even a single piece out of a chocoholic's treasure trove.

Especially on Valentine's Day, chocolate is the arrow of choice for Cupid's bow. It is the one gift that is universally appropriate, as right for a spouse, girlfriend or boyfriend as it is for a parent, a business acquaintance or a co-worker.

Love Nuggets are a surprisingly simple yet exquisite and elegant-looking treat that anyone can make for all their Valentines this year, featuring the finest milk chocolate and the unique taste of Bailey's Irish Creme. Make an extra batch of these delicious Love Nuggets and give a heart away as much as you like this Valentine's Day.

BAILEY'S LOVE NUGGETS

1 package (12 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1/2 cup Bailey's Original Irish Cream
1/4 cup heavy cream
2 cups pecan pieces

Conventional Method: Stirring constantly, heat chocolate morsels, Baileys Original Irish Cream, and heavy cream in double boiler over medium heat until chocolate is melted and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat and stir in pecans. Drop by teaspoonsfuls onto waxed paper; cool until set, about one hour. Remove from waxed paper and store in tight container.

Microwave Method: Place chocolate morsels, Baileys Original Irish Cream and heavy cream in microwave-safe dish; cover with paper towel or waxed paper. Cook on medium (50 percent power) two to two-and-a-half minutes. Stir in pecans. Drop by teaspoonsfuls onto waxed paper; cool until set, about one hour. Remove from waxed paper and store in tight container. Makes 20 to 24 candies.

Sweetheart Cake Is Tops

by GLORIA DAVIS

Every era has its baking fads wherein a new recipe hits the homemaker's circuit and soon it shows its taste-tempting face at every potluck dinner, is being served at bridge club, and pops-up at even the most elite dinner parties.

Broken Glass Pie, Grasshopper Pie, 24-Hour Salad, Heath-Bar Angel Cake, Seven-Layer Salad, Texas Ranch Cake and all the mock pies made in the blender, are just a few delectable delicacies that have made the Home Recipe File Hall of Fame.

Back in the 1960s Jello-Angel Cake topped this list, but many homemakers of the 1980's either aren't into Jello, or they haven't heard about this nutritious and easy way to whip-up a special dessert.

Jello-Angel Cake can be served in as many ways as there are flavors of gelatin dessert and kinds of fruit, allowing for a little dessert customizing.

Since Valentine's Day is on the immediate horizon, let's toss together a Strawberry Sweetheart Surprise.

Janson-Micucci

Elisabeth Janson, daughter of Lt. Col. Jan-Bertil Janson of Uppsala, Sweden, and Patrick Micucci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Micucci of Grayslake, were united in marriage on Jan. 5 at Helga Trefaldighets Church, Uppsala, Sweden. Richard Stetson performed the ceremony.

The bride was given away by her father in the ceremony, which combined Swedish and American tradition.

Maid of honor was Irene Palo, Best man was Daniel Micucci, brother of the groom.

A reception was held at Eklundshof Mansion.

The bride attended school in Sweden, Switzerland and the United States.

The groom is a graduate of Grayslake High School and Northern Illinois University. He is a weapons officer for the United States Navy aboard USS Luce.

The couple will make their home in Jacksonville, Fla.

Ortigosa-Kratochvil

Mr. and Mrs. Juvenal Ortigosa of Grayslake announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosa Maria, to Pete Kratochvil, son of Mrs. Joan Kratochvil of Grayslake.

The bride-to-be is a 1981 graduate of Grayslake High School and is employed as a loan and stock processor for Travenol Employees Credit Union, Deerfield.

The prospective groom is a 1980 graduate of Grayslake High School and a 1985 graduate of Western Illinois University. He is a salesman for Channer Corp., Highland Park.

The couple plan a May wedding at St. Gilberts Church, Grayslake.

Pete Kratochvil and Rosa Maria Ortigosa

Laurence Monaghan and Kelli Ann Kirchhardt

Kirchhardt-Monaghan

STRAWBERRY SWEETHEART SURPRISE

1 (average size commercial) angel food cake
1 large box strawberry gelatin dessert
1 container frozen sliced strawberries frozen whole strawberries
1 small container whipped topping
1 can whipping cream

Make gelatin according directions sans 3/4 cup of water (replaced by juice in sliced strawberries).

Fold in sliced berries, pour into angel food cake tube pan with spring release. Let mixture thicken in refrigerator.

Cut cake into two layers, spread whipped topping on bottom layer and thinly on bottom of top layer, scattering 1/2 of thawed frozen whole berries (sliced) on top of topping of bottom layer. Put top layer in place.

When gelatin mixture is slightly thickened, carefully turn layered angel cake upside down and put into cake pan, gently pushing into gelatin mixture. Mixture should cover top of cake and drizzle down (up) sides of cake.

Refrigerate till gelatin is firm, remove sides of pan, place cake dish on top of bottom of cake and flip over. Remove pan bottom from cake top carefully.

Keep refrigerated until ready to serve, decorate with whipping cream and garnish with remaining whole berries.

Serving this succulent dessert to that very special person on a crystal cake plate lined with a lacey paper doilie lends a stronger Valentine's Day flavor, especially when flanked by flickering tall scarlet tapers in crystal candelholders and served with pink champagne. If this won't draw a romantic kiss and gift, nothing will.

Doctors Enjoy A Quiet Dinner

We meet sometimes, my friends and I, to have a good dinner—but sometimes one of them can't help throwing a question into the conversation that shows his concern. It spreads out in concentric circles like a pebble tossed into a pond.

Dr. Yungfren did this the other day. "What do you fellows do with your diagnosis when the hospital girls come around and ask you to change diagnosis number three to number one on the chart?"

Medical usings

By Leo Tannenbaum, M.D.

"They would only do this in Bigcity," said Dr. Wirtuos. "We don't have that problem in Smalltown Hospital."

"What's your problem?" said Dr. Synik. "Who cares? Let them do it. The hospital has to keep its head above water. It makes more money by having number three as number one in the Diagnosis Related Groups and you've done a good job and got your patient well, save your time and your coronaries, don't quibble, take care of the sick."

"But the front page of the chart has a statement that anyone who cheats the government will pay up to $10,000 and may go to jail and maybe it's dishonest."

"That's only part of the hospital problem," said Dr. Whinerk. "I think the nurses are so tied up with rules and documenting every grunt and groan to protect the hospital so they can watch their butts, that they are too busy to take care of the patient."

We considered watching the nurses' butts, but it did not help Dr. Yungfren.

"That's Bigcity's problem," said Dr. Wirtuos. "That never happens elsewhere and if they're wrong, they are going to catch it sometime."

"No way," said Synik. "You've signed the sheet. It's your butt, not theirs. Anyway, the government pays, not you or the patient, so what's your problem?"

Individually, we chewed on our steaks or the vegetarian plate and somehow the cheerful dinner was going slightly flat. The waitress, Donnie, filled our cups with coffee and decaffeinated.

We turned to Dr. Bopal. He is precise and sometimes lectures us redundantly and sometimes he is quite informative. "DRGs, or Diagnosis Related Groups are Medicare's way of cutting down costs."

"But it is a little stupid to make a difference in payment amount, if, as I have been told, congestive heart failure with respiratory distress is paid differently than respiratory distress due to congestive heart failure," said Dr. Wirtuos.

"I'm a little disturbed when the insurance company hews to the DRG line on a five-year-old patient. When I talk to the girls who overlook charts at the hospital, they are very soothing. They tell me even if he isn't 65 yet, it will probably be extended soon to everyone and it's nice to get practice in it so everything is uniform," said Dr. Whinerk.

Dr. Bopal grabbed the check because he seems to enjoy doing the figuring. "That's $10.75 with tip," he said.

We busied ourselves passing money around the table until we got it right. We discussed briefly that we'd call each other and arrange the time for our next cheerful get together.

I left the restaurant. It looked blustery and maybe there would be some snowflakes. I was glad that I'm not faced with those Bigcity problems. The conversation was stimulating, though, and certainly called for musing.

Your Kids Have Friends In High Places.

When kids are scared or hurt, and there's no one else around, there ought to be someone nearby who cares. Well, we care. And we're often nearby.

So, in 1985, our 18,000 Commonwealth Edison employees became the E-Team.

The idea was to help kids like Jason Jerde, who suffered a head injury in a bicycle accident in DeKalb. Fortunately, lineman Mark Minnihan was working in the area. He radioed for an ambulance and stayed with the boy until it arrived.

Nothing extraordinary. Just a little care and concern.

But President Reagan didn't see it quite that way.

When he was told about the program, he awarded the E-Team a citation for finding innovative private solutions to public problems.

Talk about friends in high places.

Forecast Improvement In Trade And Housing

A favorable economic climate awaited the groundhog when he surfaced this week. Oil prices remain stable, interest rates remain low except for some temporary upticks, and the foreign trade picture is improving as the dollar declines.

Forecast. The recent sharp decline in the value of the dollar against the Japanese yen and the West German mark has led the Meyers Report to make slight revisions in its forecasts.

—Look for a significant improvement in U.S. exports in March, as the declining dollar makes our exports more affordable abroad.

—Look for the gross national product to grow by one percent (annualized rate) during the first quarter of 1987. The low dollar is improving our trade deficit, which, with lower interest rates, should give the economy room to grow.

—The anticipated cut in the U.S. discount rate has been delayed because the dollar's decline served to stimulate our economy, making the need for a lower discount rate less pressing.

In Review: Government reports released this week indicate that the economy ended 1986 on a strong note.

—The Index of Leading Economic Indicators rose in December by 2.1 percent from November. This was the largest monthly increase since January 1983. The latest rise was in part due to an increase in building permits, as developers in California rushed to beat the Jan. 1 deadline for a new state-imposed development fee, the Commerce Dept. reported.

—Housing remained the strongest sector of the economy throughout 1986. Sales of new single-family homes posted a sizable 12.7 percent monthly increase in December, rising to an annualized 772,000 units. In 1986, 749,000 new homes were sold, compared to 688,000 sold in 1985. Last week, the National Assn. of Realtors reported that sales of existing homes in December climbed to 4.17 million (annualized), from 3.92 million in November.

—Factory orders in December showed a monthly increase of 1.2 percent. Excluding defense orders, which vary widely from month to month, the figure rose by 4.4 percent, showing great strength in the consumer sector. The overall December figure is 0.3 percent higher than a year earlier.

—Manufacturers' inventories declined by 0.2 percent from November and by 2.1 percent from December 1985.

—Construction spending fell by 0.5 percent from November, as both residential and non-residential outlays declined. However, the December report is still up 2.9 percent from a year ago.

Interest Rates:

—Declining mortgage rates have helped fuel the housing market. This week, the Meyers Report nationwide survey of bank rates shows the average rate on a 30-year, fixed-rate mortgage fell to 9.2 percent, from 9.33 percent last week. Of the lenders surveyed, 28 percent reduced their rates this week, while nine percent increased rates.

Nationwide averages on 15-year, fixed-rate mortgages declined to 9.02 percent, from 9.06 percent last week. The average 30-year term, one-year adjustable-rate mortgage remained unchanged, at 7.81 percent.

—Average rates on 48-month new car loans were down to 10.74 percent from 10.77 percent, while 36-month loans remained at 10.64 percent from 12.79 percent last week, as four percent of the institutions decreased their rates.

—Yields on certificates of deposit showed little movement this week, according to the Meyers Report national survey.

—Treasury instrument yields have risen, as federal government borrowing this week has pushed yields up temporarily. The government borrowed $29 billion for quarterly operating expenses on Feb. 3, 4 and 5.

Chamber Endorses Proposal

The Waukegan/Lake County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, at its regular board meeting, endorsed the proposal of agreement between Commonwealth Edison and government officials that will allow the utility to complete its nuclear construction program and to stabilize electrical utility rates for five years. This agreement will achieve the following three goals: affordable rates; a good climate for economic development; and a solvent utility. The resulting assurance of an adequate energy supply at a known cost, will be an incentive for businesses to stay and expand, or locate, in Illinois. And that means more jobs for the state. "The Waukegan/Lake County Chamber of Commerce encourages the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve the plan as drafted to insure the achievement of the three goals previously outlined in our endorsement," according to Chamber President, Charles C. Isely III.

How Tax Reform Hurts Investors

by GARY S. MEYERS

Tax reform has rubbed away much of real estate's luster as a shelter for wealthy investors, who now will buy property which can generate income rather than offer tax breaks, according to experts.

Among the damaging provisions of the new law are higher capital-gains taxes, longer depreciation periods and limits on write-offs from property that an investor does not actively manage.

"Tax benefits of real-estate ownership are greatly diminished, and investment decisions will increasingly be based on economic considerations," said David L. Millstein, chairman of the National Real Estate Group of Coopers and Lybrand, a New York-based accounting firm.

In the past, an investor could enjoy cash flow from a property but report a loss for tax purposes. The loss occurred primarily because of depreciation deductions, which take nothing out of the taxpayer's pocket. These deductions were used to offset income from wages, interest and other sources.

However, tax reform is phasing out this benefit for many investors. One of the most important provisions of tax reform—the cornerstone of Uncle Sam's attack on tax shelters—is the passive loss limitation.

This provision restricts the ability of individuals to shelter earned income (salaries) and portfolio income (dividends, interest and royalties) with losses or credits gained from passive investment activity, such as real estate.

The rules say that losses from limited partnerships and rentals or any other real-estate investment in which the taxpayer is a "passive investor," cannot be used to offset income from other sources. Under the new rules, passive investors are defined as those who are not involved on a regular, continuous and substantial basis in the management of the real estate. Now, passive losses can only offset income from other passive investments.

For real-estate investments made before Jan. 1, 1987, the passive loss rule is phased in over a four-year period. Allowable losses for these properties are reduced by 35 percent in 1987, by 60 percent in 1988, by 80 percent in 1989, and by 90 percent in 1990, and will be eliminated thereafter.

Real-estate investors also will feel the pinch of less favorable capital-gains treatment and changes in depreciation schedules. Under the new law, capital gains can be taxed up to 28 percent, up from 20 percent. Depreciation schedules have been changed to 27.5 years for residential property and 31.5 years for commercial property, from 19 years for both.

There are also limits for non-passive investors. Those who earn $100,000 a year or less will be allowed to write off up to $25,000 in real-estate losses annually if they actively participate in managing their rental property. But investors who have adjusted gross incomes of more than $150,000 cannot share in this break. Those who make between $100,000 and $150,000 will have the $25,000 ceiling slashed by 50 percent of their income above $100,000.

A few breaks are left, though. Unused losses in a given year can be carried forward to offset future passive income. And, when the investor sells the property, he may use accumulated passive losses to offset non-passive income for that year, according to Robert Greisman, tax partner in the international accounting firm of Grant Thornton.

Under tax reform, corporations have a significant advantage over individuals in real-estate investments, because they are exempt from the passive-loss rules. Therefore, experts predict that corporations will be increasingly attracted to real estate as an investment and tax shelter. Smart individual investors will incorporate their investment entities in order to sidestep the passive-loss rules.

Corporations will be subject to the same depreciation schedules as individual investors. However, changes in depreciation schedules may not be as bad as investors think, say some experts. Thomas L. O'Dea, editor of the Real Estate Intelligence Report, published in Potomac, Md., notes that the new law only changes one part of the depreciation formula—it lengthens the cost-recovery period.

He notes that an investor can, as before, greatly increase his depreciation write-off by making capital improvements to his property; these improvements are added to the depreciation basis. He said that costs of legal and consulting fees to pursue a property-tax appeal, and any costs of buying the property, such as a survey, a termite inspection and recording, title and escrow fees, also increase the depreciable basis.

Grant Closes In On 20 Wins, Round Lake Faces Wauconda

It was in the middle of the DeKalb Christmas Tournament and Grant coach Tom Maple was asked if he was pleased with his team's progress.

"We're half-way to 20 wins. That was our goal," Maple said.

Two months and 10 wins later, the Bulldogs are closing in on that coveted 20-win season. Victories over Round Lake 68-58 and Wheeling 56-45 gave the Bulldogs an 18-2 record heading into this week's games.

Grant hosts Grayslake, a team it beat by seven points in round one, Feb. 13.

For Round Lake, beating teams in the second division of the Northwest Suburban Conference has not been that difficult.

But it's another story when the subject of Marengo, Grant and Lake Zurich come up.

And that's why, after a Tuesday night battle against Lake Zurich, the Panthers need to show well when they host Wauconda Feb. 13.

"We're playing pretty good ball; we just have to get better all the time," Round Lake coach Bob Ward said.

The Panthers entered this week's play with an 11-8 overall record, 4-5 in NWSC action. Wauconda, meanwhile, was 6-9 in league play, 1-15 on the season.

Round Lake lost two games last week to two of the league's best teams - Marengo on a close 45-43 count and then league-leader Grant 68-58.

Against Grant, the Pan-

Bob Ward

thers could not stop the Bulldogs' Ron Richford and Don Kiesgan. Richford had 27 points, 18 in the second half while Kiesgan had 18.

"It was a game of spurts. Every time we would open up a lead, Round Lake would keep coming back," Maple said.

The key for Grant came when the visitors took charge at the end of the first quarter.

Round Lake had come out of the shoot fired up for the home contest and the two teams played to an 8-8 standoff fit the first six minutes. But then the Bulldogs scored the last six points of the quarter, building up a seven-point cushion. When Mike MacDonald got hot from the outside and scored three quick hoops, Grant led 28-17 with 2:41 left in the half.

Grant led 36-23 at halftime and extended the gap to 18 points in the third. Round Lake's Jim Bills, who led the Panthers with 21 points, had to sitout during a key stretch at that time because of fouls.

The Bulldogs' widest margin came at 46-28 when Richford tapped home a miss with 2:30 left.

Round Lake, despite no timeouts left, then cut the lead to nine, with a 7-0 run. But Grant's Richford tapped home a key hoop with one second left in the quarter, giving Grant a 48-39 lead after one.

"We played with real good intensity," Ward said of the rally.

Grant took over in the fourth quarter, holding off Panther comeback tries. A Richford hoop with 2:25 left in the game gave Grant a 12 point cushion.

While Round Lake is looking to regain momentum, Wauconda is hoping for an upset.

The Bulldogs were demolished 60-38 last week by Marengo. Wauconda managed just eight first-half points, trailing 40-8 at halftime.

Carmel Hopes To Keep Win Streak Going At Notre Dame

For the last two months, Carmel basketball coach Frank Belmont has been waiting for his team to put a winning streak together.

The waiting is over now.

Carmel won two games last week, making it three in a row, and heads into a Feb. 13 clash at Notre Dame with renewed hope of gaining second place in the East Suburban Catholic Conference.

"That was a big weekend for us. And with St. Joseph beating St. Patrick, that gives us something to shoot for," Belmont said.

A 52-48 win over St. Viator and a 71-56 victory over Marist gave CHS a 13-8 overall record, 8-3 in the ESCC.

Belmont said he was pleased with his team's play on offense both nights.

"I thought we played consistently on offense. We shot 54 for 85 from the field for the weekend, which is about 64 percent. We were taking advantage of the offensive opportunities we had," Belmont said.

Against St. Viator, Carmel started strong with an 18-12 lead after one. Carmel led 24-22 at halftime and 38-30 after three before holding off a fourth quarter rally by St. Viator.

Rob Graham led Carmel with 16 points while John Welling and Scott Stahoviak had 12 each.

Graham led Carmel's efforts against Marist, contributing 19 points. Stahoviak had 18 and Welling 10.

Carmel led early in the Marist contest as well. The Corsairs led 24-20 after eight minutes and 38-28 at halftime.

If there is a negative from Carmel's play of late it is defense, Belmont said.

"We need to be more consistent defensively," the coach said.

Six Panther Grapplers Qualify For Sectional Meet

Round Lake placed fourth in the Grant regional last week, advancing six wrestlers to the Barrington sectional Feb. 13 and Feb. 14.

Action at Barrington starts with the preliminary round Feb. 13 at 5 p.m. Semi-final action starts at noon and the finals are at 7 p.m. Feb. 14.

Buddy Estes (20-2-1) took first place at heavyweight by winning all three of his matches in regionals. Jerry Chapman (28-5) won his first two matches at 126 pounds but lost in the finals. Joe Laubinger advanced to the championship at 145 pounds before losing to Grant's John Bakis 5-0 in overtime.

Third-place finishers for the Panthers were: Jeff Harvey at 98 pounds (18-12); Rich Mata at 112 pounds (24-12) and Jim Ridlin at 155 pounds (26-11).

Round Lake's freshmen ended their season with a 46-20 win over Marist to end with a perfect 14-0.

The team also took first place in two of three tournaments they competed in this season. The Panthers took second at the Woodstock freshmen tournament, finishing behind Dundee-Crown by three points.

Young Panthers with the best records were: Dav id Brook (90 pounds); Brian Rainer (98); Dave Men-jaures (105); Jason Gilley (105); Scott Collins (112); Art Ochoa (119); Mark Dittmer (126); Rigo Cordura (145); Chris Ragel (155); Gerry McCue (167) and Louis Tovar (heavyweight).

Regional Pairings All Set

Area basketball fans should mark their calendars for March 3, 4 and 6.

Those are the nights that all 10 area high school teams will be competing in regional tournaments at Carmel, Grant, Jacobs and North Chicago.

At Carmel, the Corsairs open the tournament when they play Mundelein March 3 at 7:30 p.m. Warren, which beat Libertyville by 10 points earlier, faces the Wildcats March 4 at 7:30 p.m. Winners square off for a berth in the Waukegan East Sectional March 6 in the regional title tilt at 7:30 p.m.

At Grant, the host Bulldogs take on Antioch in the opener March 3 at 6:30 p.m. Round Lake battles Northwest Suburban Conference rival Grayslake at 8 p.m. Winners meet March 6 at 7:30 p.m. The regional winner advances to the Rockford sectional played at the Rockford Metro Centre.

At North Chicago, Waukegan East battles Zion-Benton March 3 at 7:30 p.m. The next night, the host Warhawks face Waukegan West at 7:30 p.m. Winners advance to the regional final at 7:30 p.m. March 6.

Like the Carmel tourney winner, the North Chicago champion advances to the Waukegan East sectional.

Wauconda is the only area team entered in the Jacobs regional. The Bulldogs open the regional March 3 at 6:30 p.m. when coach Chuck Neary's team battles Barrington. Dundee-Crown and Jacobs clash in the second first-round game. The winners advance to the regional title game March 6 at 7:30 p.m. That regional winner moves on to the Palatine Fremd sectional.

Geary Picks NIU

Jeff Geary will be starting his collegiate football career at Northern Illinois next fall.

Geary, an all North Suburban Conference defensive back and wide receiver for the Mustangs last year, will be concentrating his energies on defense. NIU coach Jerry Pettibone granted Geary a full four-year scholarship.

Mundelein coach Gary Heifner said Pettibone and his staff represented NIU well during the recruiting season.

Geary will major in accounting at NIU.

Truman Proves Too Much For Both CLC Hoops Teams

The College of Lake County's men and women basketball teams ran into problems last week when they traveled to Chicago to duel with Skyway Conference opponent Truman.

Before the games, the men were looking to steamroll while the women were hoping to gain a share of the conference lead with the Falcons. Both teams came up on the losing end.

The Lancer men lost a nailbiter, 61-59. CLC hosts Wright Feb. 12 with the women starting at 5 p.m. and the men 7 p.m.

Against Truman, the CLC men jumped out early, taking a commanding 37-23 halftime lead, and were seemingly in complete control. However, Truman exploded in the second half, coming back from the 14-point deficit to outscore Lake County 36-24. CLC had a chance to tie the contest in the final seconds, but a last-second shot failed and Truman found themselves with a slim two-point win.

CLC head coach Bruce Smith attributed his team's poor second half to aggressive play by Truman.

"They played a swarming defense against us. They got emotional and really hustled and played above their heads in the second half," Smith said.

Terry Wright led CLC with 17 points while

Don Gunther added 11. The loss dropped CLC to 7-3 in the league and 15-10 overall. David Tucker was held to just three points.

In the preliminary game, the Lancer women did not figure to upset the mighty ladies team from Truman, but talks of an upset were swarming the Grayslake campus.

In short, Truman outplayed CLC in just about every facet of the game, handing the Lancers a frustrating 98-50 drubbing.

Lake County, though, will assuredly claim second place in the conference. Their current mark stands at a very respectable 8-2 in the league and 10-9 overall.

Karen Hermann led CLC with 21 points in the losing cause.

Mundelein Hopes To Upset League Leader Lake Forest

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

If the rest of the 1986-87 Mundelein boys basketball home games are moved to the College of Lake County, coach Dennis Kessel would probably be happy.

For it was the extra 10 feet that provided the difference, the mentor said, in the Mustangs' 57-52 upset over Warren Feb. 6. However, the contest was the last one Mundelein in which Mundelein will get to play at CLC. Mundelein hosts league-leading Lake Forest Feb. 14.

"I was pleased when I found out the game was going to be played here. The longer floor allowed us to take advantage of our strengths - the pressure defense, the transition game and the fast break. We wanted to make them play the entire floor," Kessel said.

The strategy worked perfectly. Mundelein, which had lost twice previously to the Blue Devils, stunned the hosts by gaining a 15-point lead by halftime. Mundelein got the ball inside on its bigger foes. Warren, in addition to poor shooting in the first half, missed six front-ends of one-and-ones.

The win bettered Mundelein, who had lost by 18 points to Stevenson the night before, to 8-12 overall and within a game of .500 in the North Suburban Conference at 6-7. Warren slipped to 13-7, 9-4.

The loss left Warren coach Darrel Bader more concerned about his own team's status then with Warren's next opponent, Zion-Benton at CLC Feb. 13.

"I'm more concerned about my team than anyone elses. The way we played in the first six quarters of this weekend makes me sick," Bader said.

Bader was referring to a 44-32 win over Niles North which was not sewed up until Warren outscored the Vikings 13-2 in the fourth quarter.

Mundelein got balanced scoring in its win over Warren. J. T. Mathwig led the Mustangs with 18 points, including eight-for-nine from the free-throw line. Brian Kristofferson scored 14 on seven field goals.

Brian Jarrell led Warren with 18 points Dave Sjong had 12, all in the second half.

Mundelein jumped off to a 16-10 lead after one, scoring the last six points of the first quarter.

An 8-4 spree, capped off by a Kristofferson layup, made it 26-14 Mundelein with 2:50 left in the first half. Mundelein led 33-18 at halftime.

Warren turned up the juices in the second half, closing the gap to seven on a three-point play by Sjong with five minutes left in the third.

But Wiener's teammates responded. A layup by Jeff Geary opened up a 51-38 lead with 2:25 left.

Regional Title Tilts Set

Area girls basketball fans have two choices when it comes to regional final games this week.

Grayslake and Mundelein tournaments will both be decided.

Grayslake's Feb. 13 tournament final begins at 7 p.m. Sports director Harold Jahne said ticket prices will be $1.50 for grade school age, $2 for high school and $2.50 for adults. There will be no reserved seating and doors will open at 6 p.m. No passes will be accepted.

Grayslake's tourney featured Antioch and Round Lake meeting in the first contest Wednesday while Grayslake met Grant.

Tennessee Is Among Nation's Most Scenic States

As Valentine's Day approaches and despite the groundhog's shadowy gloom predictions, possibilities for severe cold weather are waning. Groundhogs have been kind to us and may deserve a valentine remembrance. His address is hard to find, but the Brookfield Zoo usually can forward any mail.

An unusual gift idea for Valentine's Day might be to adopt a love bird or two, rather than give a box of chocolates—or flowers. The zoo's special offer, through Feb. 21, includes a photo of one of the zoo's love birds, an adoption certificate, an invitation to the May parents' picnic and more. Call the zoo's adoption office at (312)485-0263 for details... or better yet, just visit.

Surface and air travelers are now seeking southland vacations. Those in a hurry fly, while others enjoy more casual travel and drive cars or RVs in their search for new vistas of comfort and pleasure. Those driving from Chicagoland can easily schedule an overnight in Tennessee and sometimes decide to enlarge on it for local attraction sightseeing.

This year, a stop at Opryland in Nashville offers a new theme park ride called "The Old Mill Scream." It's a $2.5 million thrill producer, climaxing with a 50-foot drop into Eagle Lake. Dolly Parton's theme park, Dollywood, is Tennessee's second largest. Located at Pigeon Forge, near the western edge of Smoky Mountain National Park, its second season will present a $6 million expansion of new thrill rides, children's play areas and walk-through factories that build their favorite things... toys and candy.

Chattanooga, one of our favorite stops, is celebrating the 125th anniversary of the Civil War battle of Shiloh. The onslaught occurred in April, 1862, and became the largest and bloodiest battle ever fought on the North American continent. A major reenactment is scheduled for April 4-5 in the National Military Park at the city's edge.

Delta Queen Riverboat lines have added Chattanooga and Nashville to their port schedule. The new stops will be effective May through September. Contact the Tourism Office, Room T, Box 23170, Nashville, Tenn., 37202 for details.

Morning wake-up in the outdoors is the highlight of camping trips. The brightly rising sun, call of the birds, soft morning breezes, splash of a fish, mouth-watering aroma of frying eggs, bacon and coffee are unforgettable. Each year, growing numbers seek the outdoors, missing in metropolitan living. They need nature to refresh the spirit, recharge the body, fortify family ties and stretch the budget. RV vacations cost about a quarter of comparable air-hotel trips, or half of car-motel vacations.

To examine new attractions in the RV field, the 19th annual Chicagoland RV and Camper Show opens Friday, Feb. 13, and stakes down for 10 days, through Sunday, Feb. 22. About 175,000 square feet of O'Hare Expo floor space will display upcoming equipment, coupled with places for use and outdoor cooking. Show opens at 3 p.m. weekdays and 11 a.m. weekends.

NICC's Ice Fishing Derby Is Set For This Weekend

The 27th Annual Chain O'Lakes Ice Fishing Derby and Winter Festival will be held Feb. 14 and 15. The event is sponsored by the Northern Illinois Conservation Club, which is a non-profit organization dedicated to conservation oriented projects in the Chain O'Lakes area. This is its main fund raising event and the proceeds allow it to continue the many projects that benefit the area.

The main headquarters for the derby will be on Channel Lake off Wasz's Resort with two satellites again this year, one located on Petite Lake off Kempf's Resort and the other on Pistakee Lake off Harrison's Resort.

This event has grown in magnitude over the years, drawing thousands of people to participate in the many family events as well as the actual fishing contest. There will be 18 main prizes on the derby ticket valued in excess of $5,000 which will be drawn on Sunday afternoon, as well as 480 hourly prizes, 10 main prizes available for the hourly fishing contests, and over 4,000 previously tagged fish and 500 new tagged fish, each worth a minimum of $25. Tag number 78 is a $1,000 cash prize and is attached to a legal size Muskie sponsored by the NICC. Its value is good anytime during the year.

This derby is made possible through the efforts of the club and the generous support of individuals and businesses in the area.

This year the hourly prizes are sponsored by Rinella Beverage Company, distributors of Budweiser and Coca Cola Bottling Company of Chicago. The 500 new tagged fish are sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch, and all previously tagged fish by the NICC.

Da Vinci Creations On Display At IBM Plaza

Some 500 years ago Renaissance artist and scientific genius Leonardo da Vinci first conceived of a car, a helicopter and a military tank.

Working models of those vehicles, based on drawings exhibit are a paddle wheel ship, clock mechanism and gun carriage. These models form one of seven IBM-owned collections of Da Vinci models that are loaned to colleges, museums and libraries across the country.

braccia across and 12 in depth, he will be able to throw himself down from any great height without suffering any injury." It was the first description of a parachute.

He was also the first to conceive of the hydraulic screw and the three-speed gear system that is the basis of today's automobile transmission.

An artist by training, Da Vinci investigated virtually every field of science. It has been said that if some of his inventions had been adopted earlier, the Industrial Revolution could have occurred 200 years sooner.

The IBM-sponsored Da Vinci exhibitions are part of an ongoing national tour. The seven groups, which have from 14 to 24 models each, travel to approximately 60 cities each year. The models make up only one part of IBM's traveling and permanent exhibitions designed to educate and spark the creative curiosity of audiences of all ages.

The exhibition at One IBM Plaza is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Da Vinci's Flying Machine

A 'flying machine' designed by Leonardo da Vinci seems to float above visitor to IBM building in Chicago. Collection of 24 models of da Vinci's inventions is on display through March 20. Tiny Pudu

The world's smallest deer, a South American animal called the pudu, stands only about 15 inches high, about the size of a cocker spaniel. According to International Wildlife magazine, this diminutive creature is also remarkably elusive. An American biologist who has been studying pudus for nearly a decade has never seen one in the wild.

Soap Beat

There's no man shortage in these soap opera towns

By Marie Michaels

In real life, the statisticians tell us that a woman's chances of finding "Mr. Right" narrow considerably after she reaches age 30.

Robin Strasser

On daytime soaps, however, there are an abundance of handsome, wealthy, eligible men wandering around the streets of Llanview ("One Life to Live"), Salem ("Days of Our Lives") and Bay City ("Another World"). The women who reside in these towns are rarely faced with a man shortage. As a matter of fact, a man materializes out of nowhere whenever a dashing new one is needed.

Take "One Life to Live" 's Dorian Lord (played by Robin Strasser), for instance. She barely had dumped husband Herb Callison when, lo and behold, dashing adventurer Jonathan Russell showed up on her doorstep — and hopped into her bed. "All My Children" 's Erica Kane (played by Susan Lucci) never lacks for a man. And she sheds lovers and husbands like a snake sheds its skin.

"Another World" 's Nancy McGowan (played by Jane Cameron), who has youth on her side, has had a terrible time finding the right man in the past, but now she has two suitors lusting after her. Even wimpy Melissa Jannings (played by Lisa Trusel) on "Days of Our Lives" has ballet star Lars Englund waiting in the wings, ready and willing to provide a little romance as soon as Melissa splits from husband Pete.

The men on the soaps don't lack a love life either, even when they're well past the first blush of youth. Take "One Life to Live" 's Asa Buchanan (played by Philip Carey). This man may grow older, but his wives (at least four of them) seem to stay the same age. And "All My Children" 's Tad (the cad) Martin (played by Michael Knight) left behind a trail of weeping women a mile wide when he headed out to California to seek his fortune — and undoubtedly a new love conquest.

All this romance is probably why so many women (and men) watch the soaps. But couldn't the soap opera writers be a little more realistic? True love isn't that easy to come by.

FAME

Teri Austin is doing what she always wanted to do

By Lynn Hoogenboom

Teri Austin no longer finds herself glancing nervously at "Knots Landing" scripts when they come in.

Teri Austin

"This season I have a contract," she says with a laugh. "Now I open the script and say, 'Where am I?' Not 'Am I?'"

Austin, of course, plays Jill Bennett, the young lawyer with whom Gary Ewing (Ted Shackelford) has fallen in love on the popular CBS Thursday-night soap. Before arriving in Los Angeles, Austin, 27, did Canadian theater, television and radio, but she had never worked on a soap.

"Initially, I found it very difficult," she says. "I would get sentences that said things like, 'You know what I mean,' and I wouldn't know what I meant. I would go to the writers and say, 'Please tell me what I mean.' Now I've gotten used to playing things a little ambiguously, and it actually makes it pretty interesting."

In Canada, she subsidized her acting by co-hosting the Canadian TV show "Thrill of a Lifetime," which offered to fulfill viewers' fondest desires — like playing hockey with Wayne Gretzky, for instance.

"We would arrange whatever their thrill was," says Austin, "then we would interview them. It was all off-the-cuff, and even though we taped, we rarely stopped the tape, so it was like doing a live show. They would always give me the interviews with the people who were, like, comatose. I would say, 'Here we are with ...,' and I would look over and their eyes would be glazing over, and it would be like they were on Mars. I would say things like, 'You had a good time on your thrill, didn't you?' just trying to get them to nod. But the show allowed me to go off, work in theater and make my $1.98 a day."

Acting is what Austin always knew she wanted to do. "I like being other people," she says. "When I got old enough to know, I thought, 'Well, either I'll be crazy or I'll be an actor.'"

"When I was a kid, I'd be downstairs watching Fred Astaire movies. Remember that movie where he tilted that chair over and walked on it? Well, I'd be practicing, and you'd hear the furniture crashing downstairs. And my mother would say, 'What is going on down there?'"

"If I can keep working as an actress for the rest of my life and never do anything else but this, I'll be very happy."

The BOX SEAT

Recovering, finally, from Super Bowl's super hype

By Marty Linehan

Before last month's Super Bowl XXI, the six winning quarterbacks of the last six Super Bowl games had first names that started with the letter "J": Jim Plunkett (twice), Joe Montana (twice), Joe Theismann and Jim McMahon. We got that important information from a local sportscaster broadcasting from California two nights before the big game.

That's the kind of stuff the Super Bowl reporters were down to. At least it wasn't another stupid question, like the one asked Giants' tight end Mark Bavaro: "If you were 10 years older, what would your thoughts be on the Vietnam War?"

There were too many reporters, not enough ballplayers and too much time to ask too many questions. There were roughly 2,500 journalists, including 500 from CBS, the network that televised the game. And they had all week to think up wild questions to ask the 90 ballplayers (45, actually, since half the 90 players weren't asked anything).

And everyone wanted to get into the act. It's such a good deal for the writers that even disc-jockey types tried to get a week in the sun, complete with free meals, the Super Bowl party and a free NFL gift.

It was a far cry from Super Bowl I, when one-on-one interviews were possible and the National Football League was begging for headlines and TV spots. There was a grand total of 100 reporters at that first game. Now the NFL has to fight the press off.

Example: Denver Broncos' defensive end Rulon Jones went to college in Logan, Utah. So the Logan Herald Journal wanted representation.

The greatest increase in newsmen involved the TV people. Because its neighboring Giants were involved in the game, one New York TV station sent an anchorman, a news-side reporter, three sports reporters and three cameramen.

Included in the media circus were many other city-side reporters and other writers working alongside the usual sports stiffs. The Denver Post, for instance, commissioned author Leon Uris to cover the game. Long Island's Newsday had political writer Murray Kempton way out of his bailiwick to report from the Rose Bowl. Even the New Republic magazine had a reporter interviewing the reporters.

And no one can claim that these reporters didn't turn out the copy or produce the pictures. They did so ad nauseam. Newspapers throughout the country were inundated with Super Bowl copy and TV stations featured pictures galore.

It's a good bet that for every football fan who couldn't wait for Super Bowl XXI to arrive, there were a thousand who couldn't wait for it to be gone.

$51 Million In Low-Interest Mortgages Now Available

The nation's lowest single-family mortgage rates were unveiled Thursday, Jan. 29, when Illinois officials introduced a $51 million program offering 7.45 percent interest rates and low closing costs of only one percent.

The Home Builder Program II is aimed at first-time home buyers planning to purchase new, single-family homes.

"This is the latest example of the success of Build Illinois," said Gov. James Thompson. "Nearly two years ago, when I introduced the $2.3 billion program, almost half of Build Illinois was aimed at improving the state's housing stock, which in turn creates home construction jobs and employment in related industries.

"With Home Builders II, we are able to take advantage of the lowest interest rates in years and reduce them further by backing this plan with the state's excellent credit rating and the financial security of Build Illinois," he said.

Thompson said Home Builder II will help build 600 new homes and create 1,200 man years of employment (a housing trade term equal to one person working for one year) in housing construction. More than $1 million in new local property taxes will be generated from homes built by the program.

Under the program, interested home buyers first contact a participating home builder and then are directed to a mortgage lender after securing a contract for construction.

Interested home buyers must meet the standard IHDA mortgage application requirements.

For more information about the program, call IHDA's Home Line toll free from anywhere in Illinois at (800)942-8439, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Contractors' Group Offers Fraud Prevention System

Home-improvement and repair contractors and tradesmen frequently ask for a deposit before beginning work on a project. Many homeowners comply without question, a practice which can lead to trouble, according to an official of a construction trade association.

Bill Branit, treasurer of the nonprofit Independent Contractors Association (ICA) in Downers Grove, states that theft of deposits is one of the most common frauds in the construction industry.

"There are some contractors who make their living this way," Branit said. "They bid low on a job, write a contract, and collect a sizeable deposit from the homeowner. Then they vanish, since they had no intention of even beginning the work."

These phony contractors are able to continue to cheat consumers because of inadequate laws and a shortage of enforcement personnel, Branit believes.

"Existing legislation has not provided the authorities with the power necessary to control these practices," he asserted, "and most enforcement agencies are so understaffed that they can't keep pace."

"Fraudulent companies can change identities overnight," he said. "They incorporate under another name, rent another storefront office, change their telephone number, and they're back out fleecing the public again."

Fraud, however, is not the only way that a homeowner can lose financially, Branit points out.

"Many legitimate contractors request deposits," he observed. "They are sincere about pursuing the project, but they get into financial trouble."

"Typically, they will use new deposits to pay off old bills. When this dubious practice catches up with them, and they go under, their current customers lose their money. These victims are completely innocent of any wrongdoing and are unaware of the contractor's weak financial position."

Branit indicates that an alternative to giving deposits exists which will also guarantee satisfactory completion of the work.

"ICA has developed the Security Fund Program to protect the consumer's money," he explained. "Under this plan, the homeowner deposits the funds for the project with ICA. We act as a neutral third party, disbursing payments when the consumer gives us an approved payout order, when the contract is legally cancelled, or when a settlement results from a dispute."

"So the homeowner is protected against dishonest or financially unsound contractors, and the contractor is protected against bad debt," he continued. "Additionally, ICA will check to see that the proper waivers and affidavits are received, to assure that no liens are placed upon the property by suppliers or subcontractors."

"There is an administrative fee for this program, but it is a nominal charge considering how much the consumer could lose. It's good, inexpensive insurance."

"Any firm that resists this idea," Branit added, "should be examined closely, or excluded altogether from bid consideration."

The security fund agreement is part of an ICA document package that includes: three bid proposals; a project agreement; a plan/specification sheet; a right-to-cancel form; three change-order forms; three partial waivers of lien with contractor's affidavit; a completion certificate with punch-list; and a final waiver and affidavit.

Branit states that the document package has been endorsed by David Horowitz, of the "Fight Back with David Horowitz" television show; the Center for the Study of Responsive Law, a Ralph Nader organization; the Governor's Office of Interagency Cooperation, a consumer protection group; the Illinois Assn. of Community Action Agencies; the Better Business Bureau of Greater Chicago; and the Legal Assistance Foundation of Chicago.

ICA also provides free referrals of tradesmen and contractors in such trades as landscaping, garage construction and repair, insulating, interior decorating and painting, and others. For more information on the security fund program, or to obtain free referrals of qualified firms, ICA can be reached at (312) 971-0102.

Extension Plans Seminar On Hazardous Substances

Do you suffer from headaches, stomachs, sinus problems, skin problems, overweight, stress, fatigue or a combination of the above? It may mean you are overly sensitive to some substances in your environment. All substances are made up of chemicals. They can be chemicals in the air, on the carpet from cleaning, detergent residue in clothing, building supplies used in the home, or even the finish on furniture. If a substance gets under the skin or into the bloodstream, a sensitive person may react in a way that is not healthy for them. Very small amounts may be a problem for one person, while another person can tolerate much more of the same chemical.

Over the last few years, the world has experienced a chemical avalanche, with new substances entering the market every year. It is difficult to keep track of what they will do to the home environment and the community if precautions are not taken in use and disposal.

Persons interested in knowing more about this subject are invited to attend a free workshop sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. This program, "Hazardous Household Substances; Precautions and Alternatives", will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 25 starting at 7 p.m. at the Lake County Extension Service Auditorium. To register, call (312) 223-8627.

Presenting the workshop will be Mary McCann, resource consultant on hazardous household substances; Henry Spies of the University of Illinois, who will discuss building and construction supplies that can be toxic; and Mike Kuhn, environmental protection specialist with the Lake County Health Dept., who will address the issue of safe disposal of household waste. Joe Wozniak, also of the Lake County Health Dept. will serve as master.

CLEAR To Meet

The Citizens of Lake County for Environmental Reform (CLEAR) will hold a public meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the Libertyville Twp. Hall.

Discussion will center on the ARF and Waste Management landfill proposals and the rezoning hearings. All interested persons are invited to attend. For more information, call Shelly Auble at (312) 367-337.

Join Hospice Team

Carole Weber has joined the Saint Therese Medical Center STAR Hospice team as patient care coordinator. Weber, 44, comes to Saint Therese from Evanston Hospital, where she was a staff nurse in the medical oncology unit. The Glenview resident is excited about her new position, saying that the most satisfying part is the feeling she gets from being needed. After receiving her bachelor of arts degree in English from Saint Mary's College, Notre Dame, Ind., Weber taught at high schools in Tokyo and Chicago. Years later she changed careers, receiving a diploma in nursing from Evanston Hospital School of Nursing. The Saint Therese Hospice team of professionals and volunteers are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to provide help and care, whether it be in the home or at the medical center. For more information on STAR Hospice, call (312) 360-2220.

Next Election Pivotal For Control Of County

by JOHN STEINKE

Once Lake County had more dairy cows than people, but that ratio began to change after World War II. During the 1950s, the Lake County population rose by 64 percent. It has been growing furiously in the past 30 years from 179,096 people in 1950 to 440,372 in 1980. Lake County is the third most populous in the state of Illinois.

between the Norm Geary-Mike Graham Independent Republicans and the "Mickey" Babcox-Bob Neal regulars. The independent Republicans remember Lake County as an isolated and sleepy small-town agricultural paradise far from the frenetic expressways of Chicago. For them, what is happening amid the vanishing cornfields is suburban Armageddon. The steady encroachment of Republican machine commanded by Babcox and managed by GOP chairman Robert P. Neal. The Graham-Geary bloc believes that the Republican organization replicates the Chicago Democratic machine. They subscribe to the two-party system. The GOP mavericks have supported "quality" Democrats for office, including County Clerk Linda Hess.

The party regulars and independent Republicans are gearing up for the 1988 GOP primary in order to achieve a majority on the county board. Twelve of Lake County's 24 board representatives will be up for election next year. The party mavericks are buoyed by the fact that seven GOP regulars will be on the ballot in the 1988 spring primary. "The Seven Neanderthals," as defined by independent Republicans, were brought screaming into the 20th century. They include: Dist. 1 Rep. Deloris Axelrod of Highland Park; Dist. 1 Rep. Donald Strenger of Lake Forest; Dist. 3 Rep. Bob Neal of Wadsworth; Dist. 4 Rep. Jim Fields of Antioch; Dist. 4 Rep. Fred Popp of Lake Villa; Dist. 5 Rep. Jim Dolan of Libertyville; and Dist. 6 Rep. Jerry Beyer of Wauconda. "There have been some unflattering characterizations of the 'Seven Neanderthals,'" Deloris Axelrod has been called "the Donna-Mae Litwiler of the Shoreline." Fred Popp has been described as "A lazy man of mediocre talents." Jim Dolan has been referred to as "the Charley McCarthy" of Warren Twp. Supervisor Robert Depke. Jim Fields has been characterized as "a modest man with a great deal to be modest about." Dist. 3 Rep. and GOP chairman Bob Neal has been castigated as "a politician who thinks with his larynx." With Neal, the Republican machine is a holy cause. He can always be found in the vest pocket of Sheriff Babcox, the political czar of Lake County. As a front man for "the Boss," Neal is in charge of lining up the party regulars like sacks of potatoes.

The 1988 County Board races will determine the political destiny of Lake County. The Geary-Graham faction has a rare opportunity to capture the County Board. They will portray "the Seven Neanderthals" as pro-growth, anti-environmental party hacks.

Steinke On Politics

Suburbanization has transformed Lake County from a drowsy, pastoral community of cornfields and cows into a sprawling metropolis of subdivisions and shopping malls. In the beginning, there were cornfields. Following World War II, the farm land was stripped, subdivided and cemented to make way for Lake County's newest crop: people.

Lake County's 24 County Board members will, in large measure, determine the area's future on economic growth, open space, and landfill sites. The county board is polarized concrete on fertile farmland threatens to turn Lake County into one big Pizza Hut.

The independent Republicans want to preserve the county's remaining farmland from speculators, who eventually will develop or sell their parcels to others developers. In their dual capacity as County Board representatives and forest preserve commissioners, the independent Republicans want the county to acquire additional acreage for open space and recreational facilities. They also refuse to serve as rubber stamps for the Lake County

FOR SELF-GOVERNMENT to work, elected officials have to have a reasonable faith that the electorate can make good judgments.

I don't subscribe to the board members and developers? How many of our county board members voted to keep us from having a say in it? Were they afraid that we just wouldn't understand?

Let's turn to the county's framework plan for governed are not allowed input into major decisions before they are made.

Of course, in this country, the people have the power to exert their collective will at election time. Personally, whether they make good or bad decisions, I will not vote for politicians who choose to shut me out of decisions that will have a long-term effect on my life.

ACCORDING TO FRED Geiger, chief judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit, it is going to get a lot harder to avoid jury duty come July 1. Those people who do not register to vote in order to avoid jury duty will have a surprise: after that date, potential jurors will be selected from the list of licensed drivers over 18.

Some people mistakenly think that only registered voters may be called for jury duty. Wrong. Occasionally, precinct committeemen have reported people who tried to avoid jury duty by failing to register to vote. Some of these people got a surprise as they were occasionally put on a priority list of people to be called.

Now, it won't make any difference. If you are registered or you drive, your name is in the pool.

Also, all class exemptions (people who can avoid jury duty because of their jobs) have been abolished. All but one, that is. "People actively employed on the editorial or mechanical staffs of any newspaper" are exempt. We journalists must have a tougher lobbying group than I thought.

MERV PILOTTE, RENOWNED Lake County Republican activist and director of the Lake County Area Vocational Center is incensed that President Reagan's fiscal year 1988 budget would reduce vocational education funding from $800 million to $0. That's right, nothing.

Pilotte is politic enough to spare the President his ire, though; he blames Secretary of Education William Bennett.

"We are appalled at the actions of U.S. Secretary of Education Bennett in recommending these cuts to the President," Pilotte says. "How can anyone in these times move to eliminate a program that has economic development as its purpose?"

Pilotte goes on to express the hope that the "Senate and Congress will amend this budget for adoption."

If only the President would get rid of those jokers who keep making him do things that he doesn't really want to.

elitist notion that the less the folks know about an issue, the more likely it is to be solved intelligently.

It bothers me that that attitude is gaining ground in local government.

Let's take a look at a few recent developments. Most county officials are opposed to the formation of Liberty Lakes in Lake Villa. I think it is a bad idea, too, but what is wrong with letting the folks involved vote on the proposal. Are officials afraid that the voters would make the "wrong" decision?

In the matter of the Heartland settlement, who had a voice in it save county development in west Lake County. There's a case where many municipal officials will say that they were never consulted, but are frequently instructed on how things are going to be. But many local officials have little room to criticize. How many times have they kept details of an annexation proposal as secret as possible from their own citizens until it is a done deal?

The foundation of democracy is the faith that, given choices, the mass of people will usually make good ones. That philosophy cannot survive if the

Management Of Solid Waste Must Be Dealt With Now

Commentary

EDITOR'S NOTE: A basic principle of the League of Women Voters is that an informed citizenry is essential for the workings of government. In the following article, two members hope to clarify some aspects of solid waste management.

Tomorrow, some of us will see our garbage picked up and hauled off to a landfill whose location we may not know or care to know. Five years from now, our garbage may be picked up and hauled off to the ARF and/or Waste Management incinerator and landfill sites; and we do not know where our garbage will go to in five years because we will need a site for our solid waste disposal.

According to statistics collected by the Lake County Solid Waste Advisory Committee, in 1985 the county generated 1,800 tons of garbage a day. At present, there are three operating municipal landfills in the county, two of which have life expectancies of five years or less at our current rate of waste generation. According to a December, 1986 Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission report, the county will be producing 2,600 tons of garbage a day by the year 2000.

The issue of solid waste disposal, like our garbage, will not disappear. Whatever our position on the ARF and Waste Management site applications and whatever the outcome of the present hearings, we are affected. Recognition of this fact and concern for the public's health and safety motivated Congress to pass the 1976 Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA). This act was designed to establish controls over the hauling and disposal of solid and hazardous waste. In order to give local governments more say in the siting of regional pollution control facilities within their jurisdiction, Illinois passed Public Act 82-682 (Senate Bill 172) in 1981. This act established six criteria upon which the local governmental unit denies or approves a site for a given facility. It is important to note that only these specified criteria may be used in considering a site:

- the need to accommodate the waste needs of the service area;
- design, location, and operation which will protect the public health, safety and welfare;
- minimized incompatibility with the character of the surrounding area and minimized effect on the value of the surrounding property;
- location outside the boundary of the 100-year flood plain, unless the site is adequately flood-proofed;
- minimized danger from fire or spills;
- minimized traffic impacts.

Both the ARF and Waste Management site applications fall within the jurisdiction of the Lake County Board. Public hearings on each site application are presided over by a hearing officer and held before the Regional Pollution Control Hearing Committee. This committee is composed of seven elected Lake County Board members. Any member of the public present and registering on the first day of the hearing may cross-examine the witnesses. Any member of the public may testify.

It is the job of the committee to examine and evaluate the evidence presented based upon the six criteria. The committee then makes its recommendation to the Lake County Board. According to Senate Bill 172, if the site meets these criteria it should be approved. A denial of site approval must in some way be based on the site's not qualifying under one or more of the criteria.

At this stage, if the site application has been approved, the applicant must seek permitting from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. If site application approval has been denied, the first level of appeal is the Pollution Control Board. In turn, the ruling of the Pollution Control Board may be appealed to the appellate court.

In the midst of the present furor, we believe that it is important to keep in mind the facts surrounding the issue.

Soo Line Could Expand County Commuter Service

Residents of northwest Lake County could have rush-hour commuter rail service along the Soo Line as early as 1990. A public meeting will be held at the Grayslake village hall on Monday, Feb. 16 for public comments on a new Metra proposal. For information on the meeting, call NORTAN at (312) 297-0135.

Studies by Metra, the commuter rail division of the RTA, and by planning committees of the North Suburban Mass Transit Dist. show that more than 3,600 commuters a day would use the service.

The latest study, done for Metra by R.L. Banks and Assoc., independent transportation consultants, envisions a two-branch line, one originating at Antioch and the other at Mundelein. Each branch would take commuters along the currently all-freight Soo Line to the tracks of existing commuter rail lines for the trip to the Loop.

"It appears that use of Soo Line tracks is a cost-efficient, viable way of delivering rail commuter service for many far northwest communities," said John Barriger, district trustee and chairman of its rail committee.

He said the present single track Soo Line can safely and efficiently handle commuter trains because a Centralized Traffic Control (CTC) system has already been installed by the railroad.

One branch, originating at Antioch, would use Soo trackage to connect with the Metra Milwaukee Dist. North Line near Grayslake. The second branch would originate at Mundelein and use the Soo Line to connect with the Chicago and North Western's Northwest Line at DesPlaines. The Antioch branch would end at Union Station; the Mundelein branch at the Chicago and Northwestern station.

Trains originating at Antioch would stop at Lake Villa and Grayslake. Those originating at Mundelein would stop at Vernon Hills, Prairie View, Buffalo Grove, Wheeling and Mount Prospect. All these communities would have stations, "but obviously, a large number of communities near these stations would benefit from the new service," said Robert Benton, district chairman. "The line would relieve congestion in parking lots along the northern portions of the Metra Milwaukee Dist. North Line and Chicago and North Western Northwest Line...because fewer people would be driving to those lots from communities which would be served by the proposed new service."

Communities which would benefit include Round Lake, Lindenhurst, Deerfield, Northbrook, Morton Grove, Lake Forest, Libertyville, Northfield, Glenview, Arlington Heights, Lincolnshire, Prospect Heights, Mount Prospect and Riverwoods.

The study estimates that about 252 riders a day would use the Antioch branch in 1990 and more than 3,000 would use the Mundelein branch. Ridership would hit 357 on the Antioch branch and 3,769 on the Mundelein branch by 2005.

The study projects a total of five peak-period trains each weekday in each direction on the Mundelein branch and two or three peak-period trains each weekday on the Antioch branch.

The study estimates that a capital investment of a little more than $36 million would have to be made to get the Soo Line service on track by 1990. This would include cost of stations and parking, six locomotives, 15 double-decked commuter cars and construction of rail connections at Grayslake and DesPlaines. Additional cars and locomotives would not be needed for the Antioch line because some existing equipment serving Fox Lake could simply be diverted.

Between 1990 and 2005, the study estimates another $15.3 million would have to be spent for more rolling stock and for expansion of downtown yards and shops.

The proposal is the most cost-efficient alternative in the Metra study. It would nearly earn its operating costs in 1990 and, by 2005, the service would generate 15 percent more revenue from fares and parking fees than its operating costs, the study estimates.

Operating costs for 1990 would be $3.2 million with revenue of nearly $3 million. By 2005, revenue should grow to $7.4 million against expenses of $6.4 million. These estimates do not include presently unknown expenses such as rental payments to the Soo Line.

"For a very reasonable amount of money, it appears that an unused public transportation resource could be tapped for the benefit of many north and northwest suburban communities," said Barriger.

Falcon Gymnasts Stay On Top Of Conference

The Central Gymnastics team traveled to Jefferson on Thursday, Feb. 5 to take on the Eagles. Central totally dominated the meet, as they captured the top three spots on each event and won 102.26 to 54.15.

In the Southern Lakes Conference this year, it seems there are either strong teams or weak teams with no middle-of-the-road teams.

Jefferson is fighting to build a gymnastics program, and Central winning by such a large margin didn't help them much.

The Falcons took top vaulter Val Petre off vault to nurse along a nagging foot injury. In another week the big meets start for Central, so it is important that the girls stay sharp in their performances. In that final push, they need in order to achieve their goals.

The win raised Central's record to 8-0 overall and 6-0 in conference. The top three in each event for Central were: Floor, Deanna Zubor, first, 8.35; Gerri Ludwig, second, 8.0; Niko Moyer, third, 7.9.

On vault, Kim Perks took a first, 7.75; Moyer, a second with 7.5; and Ludwig third, 7.3.

On the beam, Perks, first, 8.8; Zubor, second, 8.2; Ludwig, third, 8.05.

On bars, Perks was first with 8.25; Connie Koch second, 7.65, and Val Petrie, third, 6.45.

In all-around, it was Perks, first, 8.06.

The team set a school record on beam with a 25.05 score, and Perks set another school record with a 8.8 on beam. Perks just last week had broken the beam record with an 8.45 score.

The Central J.V.s won their 34th meet in a row with a 75.1 to 61.1 score over Jefferson.

Lady Panthers Take 3, Lose To Central

The Lady Panthers pulled away with the lead in the final seconds of the game on Friday, Jan. 23, to defeat Burlington, 57-55. Leading scorer was Denise Peterson with 22 points and 13 rebounds.

Laura Nowdomski added five offensive assists to aid the team.

The junior varsity team won an intense overtime game against Burlington, 45-43. Liberty Morris clinched the game with seconds to go with two free throws. Janeen Ward led the team in scoring with 18 points. Cory Tindall added 10 points. Janeen had 12 rebounds and Cindy Bestland had eight.

The freshmen girls lost a close game to Burlington by the score of 31-24. The Burlington girls held off a furious second half rally to defeat the hustling Panthers. The Panthers made eight out of 13 free throws in the second half. Michelle Faber played aggressive ball and had several rebounds.

The girls captured another conference victory by defeating Elkhorn, 61-52, on Tuesday, Jan. 27. Leading scorers were Peterson with 19 points and Nicole Larsen with 14.

The junior varsity team won by the score of 33-23. Deana Sexson led the team in scoring with 15 points.

Ward had 10 rebounds and Cindy Bestland had seven.

The freshmen won their first game of the year with a come from behind victory over the Elks. The girls were down by as many as seven points in the game, but never gave up.

The Lady Panthers defeated Badger 66-49 on Friday, Jan. 30, to increase their record to 8-4. Leading scorers were Peterson and Wendy Jensen.

The junior varsity team won its third consecutive game by beating Badger, 38-27. Sexson led the way in scoring with 16 points. Ward added 10 points and 10 rebounds. Laura Schroeder and Bestland collected seven rebounds each.

The freshmen lost to Badger, 38-19. Vicki Gohs and Chris Inden played some good basketball.

On Tuesday, Feb. 3, the girls lost a conference game to Central. Leading scorer was Jensen, with 13 points. Peterson led the rebounding with 10.

The junior varsity team won its fourth straight game defeating Central by the score of 29-17. Ward had 10 points and 14 rebounds. Sexson added seven points and eight rebounds.

The freshmen girls lost 50-23. Vicki Gohs shot well from outside and Jenny Wagner played a good game.

The girls play at Union Grove on Friday, Feb. 13, before hosting Waterford on Thursday, Feb. 19, at their last game of the regular season.

Wilmot Grapplers Victorious

The varsity wrestling team defeated Delavan, 44-27, on Tuesday, Feb. 3. Winning by forfeit were Jeff Nichol, Jim Elkin, Mike Cudahy and Dusty Vorpahl.

Winning matches by decision was Ron Benser, and winning by pin were Doug Comaroto and Ernie Robinson.

Conference competition was held on Saturday, Feb. 7, at Elkhorn, and regionals will be held on Saturday, Feb. 14.

Panthers Still On Top

Carrying a 9-2 lead in the eastern division of the Southern Lakes Conference, the Wilmot cagers were set to meet arch-rival Central on Tuesday. Going into the game, the Falcons were 6-5 in conference play.

The Panthers trounced the western division's first place team, Delavan, 81-61, on Friday, showing an improved defense.

Wilmot led, 21-9, at the end of the first, and Jim Bruton's jump shot made it 52-29 at halftime. At the end of the third, the Panthers were still in the lead, 60-41 and both teams kept even scoring in the fourth quarter to keep the Panthers ahead by the same 20 points.

Kevin Heckel had the hot hands for Wilmot, scoring 16 points but he was closely followed by Andy Brown with 15, Mike Sweeney with 13 and Bruton with 12.

Sig Kolano and Lance Bestland came off the bench to score seven and six points respectively.

Hear Business Number 3

by State Rep. Cloyd A. Porter (R-Burlington)

Wisconsin now has the third best business taxation climate of the states according to a study done by the Corporation for Enterprise Development in Washington, D.C.

The report praised Wisconsin's predictable, balanced and fair tax system for businesses. The new index was distributed at a conference of state officials, tax lawyers and lobbyists sponsored by "Citizens for Tax Justice" during their kick-off of a drive for reform of state tax laws in the U.S.

Based on federal tax reforms enacted last year, Wisconsin needs less reform than other states in order to comply to the federal changes.

Ranked first was California; Maryland second; with Wisconsin third, Michigan fourth, and Maine fifth, and South Carolina sixth.

The states needing major business tax law changes to comply with the federal reforms are New Hampshire, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Tennessee, and Texas.

Wisconsin got high marks for laws that gave state government rather than local communities more power to finance welfare, education, and healthcare costs.

Wisconsin ranked near the middle on spending controls like "sunset laws", which automatically terminate state programs and agencies after a period of time. These laws force the legislature to re-evaluate state programs and agencies rather than just allow them to continue without review buried deep in state budgets.

This new ranking gives Wisconsin's future economic growth a good shot-in-the-arm to attract out-of-state investments.

Based on the latest information available, Wisconsin's property tax revenues per $1,000 of income in 1983-84 were 28 percent above the national average and 10 percent above the Great Lakes States average.

It will be interesting to see if our new governor and the legislature are able to put together a reasonable effort to bring this in line to the U.S. average or at least hold such in line with our other Great Lake States.

The simplest way to do this is to FREEZE state and local government spending growth or at least hold such in line with inflation.

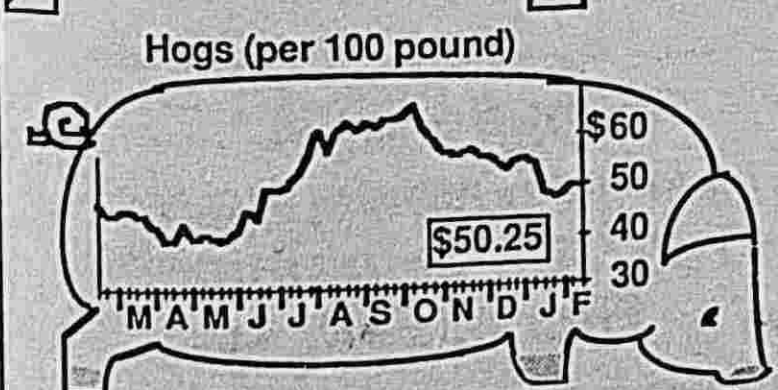

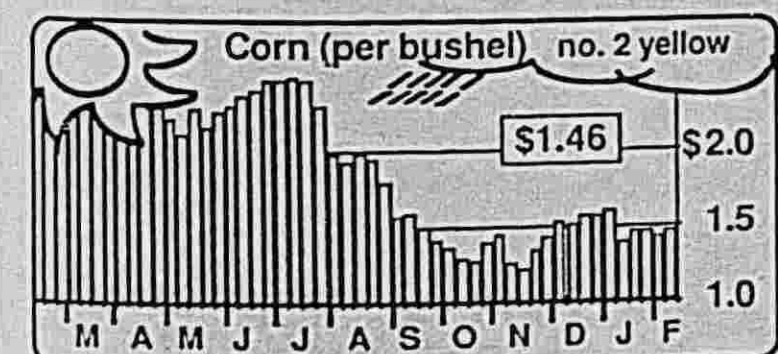

And increase our taxing base by attracting new business and industry to this state along with expansions of our present business and industry.

Write and let me know your thoughts: Rep. Cloyd Porter, Room 320 North, State Capitol, P.O. Box 8953, Madison, Wis. 53708.

Make Plans Now For Lakeland's Tax Seminar

While the impact of tax reform legislation will not be felt until next year's returns are filled out, taxpayers will have to start planning now to avoid being caught by surprise.

That is why Lakeland Newspapers, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, will host a seminar on federal income taxes on Wednesday, Feb. 25, starting at 7 p.m. in a seminar room at the College of Lake County in Grayslake.

Open to all interested parties, IRS Agent Sallie Goding will speak for about an hour and a half before opening up the floor to questions from the audience.

"The changes will affect almost everyone," she said. "The new law abolishes the deduction for a married couple when both work.

Rules for IRAs have changed drastically and there are many changes in itemized deductions."

While Goding said she would not be giving advice on tax planning, she said she would give information on what has changed and how it will affect taxpayers. She will offer advice on how to fill out the new W-4 Forms.

Goding has been a revenue agent out of the Schaumburg office since 1980. She works in auditing of large companies and is a certified public accountant.

"Even though I will be giving my presentation for the first hour and a half, I make room in that for individual questions when a point is not clear. For individuals who have questions beyond what will be discussed in the regular session, I will stay after and discuss it with them individually," she said.

Lakeland Publisher William H. Schroeder noted that the public does not often have the chance to speak to an IRS agent in a give and take situation. "This seminar will give people that opportunity," he said.

This is the second year that Lakeland has sponsored the program as a public service to its readers and other interested persons. Admission is free.

The Lakeland group of newspapers will publish a special section on the latest tax information in its issue of Feb. 19.

Elect Anderson CLC Chairman

The College of Lake County Board of Trustees elected Richard A. Anderson as chairman of the board at its Jan. 27 meeting. Anderson, a resident of Grayslake, has been a board member since 1974. He was first elected to the board as a voting member while he was a student at CLC.

"The CLC Board is one of the finest boards anyone could have the pleasure of serving on," said Anderson. "Our first priority this year is to hire and acclimate a new college president. We will then continue moving forward and will position the college to serve the community for the 1990's. We will work to maintain the high educational standards at CLC while looking for new ways to serve the residents of Lake County."

Richard Bryan, also a resident of Grayslake, was elected vice-chairman.
